A WORD ABOUT THE CANDIDATES PAMPHLET . . .

The Secretary of State is required by law to publish a Candidates Pamphlet preceding each state general election. In the preparation of this pamphlet, every nominee for a contested Federal or state office has been given the opportunity to provide a photograph and statement of qualifications.

In past elections, it has been possible to combine the Candidates Pamphlet with the Voters Pamphlet (relating to issues) making a single publication. This year, with a record number of state measures, the size of the Voters Pamphlet (112 pages) created unusual production problems.

It was determined that savings of more than $125,000.00 could be made by printing a separate Candidates Pamphlet. In addition, the voter is getting two convenient pamphlets instead of one unwieldy over-sized publication of more than 200 pages.

We trust this decision to issue this Candidates Pamphlet as a separate publication will be accepted as in the best interest of the citizens of the State of Washington.

A. LUDLOW KRAMER
Secretary of State

NOTE: The Secretary of State has no authority to comment on the accuracy of any statements made in the Candidates or Voters Pamphlets.

TOLL FREE TELEPHONE VOTERS SERVICE

Because of the lengthy and complicated ballot this November, the office of the Secretary of State has inaugurated a new information service for Washington voters—a toll-free telephone line for voter information. Voters from any part of the state may call the toll free information line in order to obtain:

- 1) additional background or answers to special questions pertaining to the twenty-four statewide ballot issues or to voter registration procedures, and;
- 2) names of potential speakers on any of these ballot issues from the Speakers Bureau established by this office.

The toll-free number is 1-800-562-6020. (The number for the Olympia area is 753-6679.) These lines will remain open 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., Monday through Friday, until the November election. We encourage Washington voters to take advantage of this service.

Remember, your toll-free voter information number is:

In this election year, approaching the 200th anniversary of our country, let us look closely at where we have gone over the last four years, and where we will go under a McGovern-Shriver Administration.

The incumbent administration has failed to cope with crucial problems both abroad and at home.

Administration spokesmen tell us they have a plan to end the war in Vietnam. Yet four years after we heard the promise of peace, the Indochina war continues to rage.

Administration spokesmen tell us that we should reelect the President. Yet prices and corporate profits continue to rise without evidence of control. Wages are held down, and union contracts are reduced and negated by the Cost of Living Council. Homeowners' taxes go up, and instead of tax reform the Nixon Administration proposes a Value Added Tax, a form of national sales tax.

Many of Washington's leading industries, aircraft and timber for example, have been severely depressed by high interest rates and galloping inflation. As of this June, 137,000 Washington citizens were unemployed, 8.7 per cent of the work force. For the Seattle-Everett area, the rate stood at 10.1 per cent, with 68,700 unemployed. Outside of Alaska, Washington has the highest unemployment rate in the nation. Statewide, as of June, 228,000 Washington citizens were receiving food stamps.

Our nation needs new leadership: policies which will use the national resources to meet the people's needs. The time has come for a reform administration, led by George McGovern and Sargent Shriver.

A Democratic administration will restrain prices, and not just wages. A McGovern-Shriver administration will not permit companies to increase prices more than necessary to offset increased costs.

A Democratic administration will close tax loopholes, reform the federal tax structure to reduce inequities, provide relief for the middle income citizen. It will mean jobs in depressed areas. Americans cannot afford 4 more years of the incumbents. Americans do not want 4 more years of inflation, 4 of high unemployment, 4 of high interest rates.

When Richard Nixon entered the White House on January 20, 1969, the United States was at one of the lowest points in its history. We were faltering and losing ground. Since that time the President has shown how statesmanship and positive action could reverse those trends.

Every effort has been made to bring peace to Vietnam without sacrificing the South Vietnamese people. 500,000 have been brought home from Vietnam, casualties reduced, spending cut by two-thirds.

The President negotiated agreements with the Soviet Union and initiated improved relations with China. He has sought to relieve tensions in other troubled areas of the world.

The Nixon administration has taken strong action to dampen inflation and increase employment. The President initiated a 90-day wage-price freeze, followed by more flexible controls, and introduced tax cuts to stimulate the economy. The inflation rate has been cut in half and the Gross National Product has expanded under his leadership. To relieve tax burdens at state and local levels, the administration's federal revenue sharing plan has been enacted.

Law enforcement policies of the Nixon-Agnew administration have been successful, with half our major cities having decreased crime.

The Environmental Protection Agency was established to combat threats to our environment. Environmental funds have increased over 500%.

The President's health care proposals are designed to guarantee better medical care for all U.S. citizens and find cures for cancer and sickle cell anemia. The drug abuse menace is being attacked.

Young Americans have been helped by the President's signing into law the bill giving 18-year-olds the right to vote and by his overhaul of the selective service system. Older Americans benefit from the President's proposals which increased Social Security payments by more than one-third.

More women and more minority citizens have been given positions of responsibility than in any previous administration. Positive actions, not empty rhetoric, show the President believes in full participation in our society by all citizens.

Independent Party

John G. Schmitz, Congressman from California, accepted the national American Party nomination at Louisville, Kentucky August 3, 1972. He is carrying on the work of Governor George Wallace, who was unable to continue after the nearly successful attempted assassination. The Independent Party, Washington state affiliate of the National American Party, also nominated Schmitz at its September 19th convention in Seattle. Schmitz pledges he will

"keep sending the message" as Wallace did, to oppose mandatory bussing, gun controls, additional high taxes, inflation (always caused by government spending and taxation), and all the other hair-brain schemes which have become cornerstones in the other two national parties. Congressman Schmitz served for six years in the California Senate, was elected to U.S. Congress and re-elected by the largest vote given that year. Congressman Schmitz summarizes his platform in two essential planks, 1. Foreign Policy, "Never go to war unless you intend to win;" and, 2. Domestic Policy, "Those who work should live better than those who won't." While serving as state senator, Schmitz was chairman of the Local Government Committee. In Congress, he was elected to serve on the major House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce, and on the House Internal Security Committee. Tom Anderson, well known agricultural journalist and most quoted humorist with his witty and dynamic speaking abilities, was both the popular nominee and personal choice of presidential candidate, John G. Schmitz. Anderson is a 1934 graduate of Baylor Military Academy and of Vanderbilt U. A Tennessee resident, his long career includes securities business, U.S. Navy officer, magazine publisher and owner, weekly columnist, and winner of many pro-American awards. Through his weekly opinion column, called "Straight Talk," Anderson is unquestionably the most widely quoted editor in the South and the most widely read farm editor in America. He is a past president of the American Agricultural Editors Assn., and holds an honorary doctor of law degree from Bob Jones University.

Socialist
Labor Party

Capitalism is faced with recurrent crises that have punctuated capitalism's existence intensity.

In these crises society has again and again faced an absurd catastrophe: an epidemic of "overproduction," with millions of workers deprived of their livelihoods because they have produced too much.

Why? Because capitalist industry does not operate primarily to satisfy social wants. It produces to sell at a profit. And whenever more goods and services are being produced than can be profitably sold, capitalist industry naturally cut back its operation.

The most dangerous stimulant is inflation. Almost 40 years of government deficit spending has inflated the national money supply and thus depreciated the dollar to a fraction of its former value.

Moreover, an acceleration of inflation in recent years pushed prices so high that American products found themselves undersold by foreign products here at home as well as abroad.

The fierce competition in the World's market places has compulsively driven American capitalism to revolutionize technology. Each improvement in the methods or tools of production that increases the workers' productivity also increases the stockpile of goods already in the glutted market.

A total economic collapse is in the capitalist cards. It will blast any remaining illusions workers may have that comfortable, secure lives are possible for them within capitalist society.

The Socialist Labor Party's program calls upon the workers to unite politically and industrially. Political unity will enable the worker majority to demand a democratic mandate for social ownership of industry and production. Industrial unity will supply the indispensable force with which to enforce and execute that mandate.

The workers will collectively own and control the industries and social services, to be administered through a Socialist Industrial Union government composed of democratically elected representatives from all the industries. The industrial democracy of Socialism will bring the highest, fullest freedom the human race has ever known.

Communist Party

The Communist Party warns: Nixon is baiting a deadly trap! Favored candidate of the big monopolies, he tries to sell himself as the architect of peace in the world. Friend of the super-rich, he pretends to stand for social reform and even revolutionary change. Demagoguery, deceit and intimidation know no bounds. This is a dirty campaign played for high stakes. The working people and the oppressed need to be on guard! A terrible hoax is being planned! There are clues to this hoax. The brutal bombing of the dikes and the hospitals. The massive killing of civilians by automated weapons made to kill people and not aimed at military targets. A genocidal war against an oppressed people fighting for independence and liberation. This is Vietnam. There are more clues. The ITT and Watergate scandals. These are only the surface in the growing evidence of foul campaign methods. The effort is to crush the opposition and to buy votes with huge secret slush funds. For working people the behavior of the Pay Board is the clue. And the whole Nixon economic program.

He would turn our Federal government into a complete servant of the jingoistic and profit-hungry military-industrial complex. The Communist Party declares: A broad based independent people's coalition is the only political force capable of blunting the ultra-right drive by Nixon. Without such a coalition, McGovern will continue to retreat, backslide and withdraw from the popular anti-monopoly program on which he won his candidacy. Without such a coalition, the power of the mass sentiment for social progress will disappear the day after the election. Without it there would be no guarantee that McGovern would not move to the right as President Johnson did. Central in the Communist Party program for meeting the immediate needs of our country in this period is the building of this independent people's coalition. Vote Communist—Vote for an independent people's coalition! Vote Communist—vote for the working class party whose foundation is black-white unity in the struggle against racism! Vote Communist—vote for a scientific path to a new society based on human values, not profit!

People's Party

The People's Party is a coalition of independent radical political parties and groups working for jobs, justice, peace and the liberation of all people. It is a party that will never be run from the top down; a party that exists as an expression of its membership—never as an owner of that membership. It stands for radical social, economic and political change in our country. It will undertake projects in our communities to implement the platform as well as organize for the long range goal of electing local, state and national candidates.

Key points in our platform include:

Immediate withdrawal of all American forces from Southeast Asia and our 3,000 bases around the world. Amnesty for war resisters. A minimal family allowance of $6,500 for a family of four. A maximum limit on income. Good quality free medical care for all people. Legalization of marijuana. An end to the sexist discrimination against women and gays. An end to the racist discrimination against Blacks, Asian Americans, Chicanos and Native Americans. Consumer and worker control of industry at the local level. "We believe that the Democratic and Republican parties serve the needs of corporations, not people. We believe that we're not going to make this country what it can be as long as the two parties are so tied up with industry.

"The Vietnam war is not slightly illegal or slightly aggressive", states Dr. Benjamin Spock, our Presidential candidate, "It is one of the dirtiest wars of all time. It's given me a different perspective on American history. It's not a defensive war, but part of our desire to dominate the world, militarily and economically. In fact, it's convinced me that stopping the war and ending American imperialism are not enough. We've got to change the system to allow people to regain control of the country.

"Industry", Dr. Spock states, "must be broken into local units, run by boards of workers and consumers as well as managers. We must end the dehumanization of the assembly line which deprives a worker of all feeling of creativity. Whether it be the schools, police, or public utilities, we must allow Americans to regain control of all the institutions."

Socialist Workers
Party

Democratic and Republican administrations alike have promised to end the war only to escalate it. Only the Socialist Workers candidates raise the one demand that will really end this war: I.e., immediate, total, unconditional withdrawal of all U.S. forces from Indochina. No more can GI's be sent around the world to defend the profits of American big business. All U.S. forces must be removed from foreign soil. We support the struggles for self-determination like that of the Palestinians against Zionism and the Irish against British rule. Blacks, Chicanos, Asian-Americans, Indians must control schools, jobs, housing, police in their own communities. Bussing must be the decision of the Black community. Only it can decide how to improve Black education. Break with the racist Democratic and Republican parties. Support the Chicano Raza Unida Party; build an independent Black political party. Today women are fighting to liberate themselves from centuries of oppression. For women's liberation: pass the Equal Rights Amendment; abolish all anti-abortion laws; free 24-hour a day child care; preferential hiring and college entrance for women. End discrimination against homosexuals. For full employment: institute the 32-hour 4-day work week without paycuts to spread the available work around; unemployment benefits at union scale for the entire period unemployed; end wage controls. Break with the big business Democratic and Republican parties and build an independent labor party based on the trade unions. For a democratic socialist America. Linda Jenness is a national leader of the feminist and antiwar movements. She was the Socialist Workers candidate for Mayor of Atlanta and Governor of Georgia. Andrew Pulley was given a choice between the army and jail for helping to lead a protest of the assassination of Martin Luther King. The army discharged him for organizing antiwar activity. He is a leader of the antiwar and Black movements and a National Committee member of the Young Socialist Alliance.

Even within the United States, all political parties other than our own grant to government the right to regulate the life of the individual and seize the fruits of his labor without his consent. We, on the contrary, deny the right of any government to do these things, and hold that the sole function of government is the protection of the rights of each individual: namely, (1) the right to life—and accordingly we support prohibiting the initiation of physical force against others; (2) the right to liberty of speech and action—and accordingly we oppose all attempts by government to abridge the freedom of speech and press, as well as government censorship in any form; and (3) the right to property—and accordingly we oppose all government interference with private property, such as confiscation, nationalization, and eminent domain, and support laws which prohibit robbery, trespass, fraud and misrepresentation. Since government has only one legitimate function, the protection of individual rights, we oppose all interference by government in the areas of voluntary and contractual relations among individuals. Men should not be forced to sacrifice their lives and property for the benefit of others. They should be left free by government to deal with one another as free traders on a free market; and the resultant economic system, the only one compatible with the protection of man's rights, is laissez faire capitalism. STATEMENT OF PRINCIPLES

We, the members of the Libertarian Party, challenge the cult of the omnipotent state, and defend the rights of the individual. We hold that each individual has the right to exercise sole dominion over his own life, and has the right to live his life in whatever manner he chooses, so long as he does not forcibly interfere with the equal right of others to live their lives in whatever manner they choose. Democrat

Voters can no longer accept the empty promises, political "doubletalk," and evasiveness of the past. They should settle for nothing less than a candidate who is firm in his convictions and lets the voters know exactly where he stands on the tough issues. In addition, they must insist on total honesty and independence. John Hempelmann is that kind of candidate. The Issues: Unemployment is widespread and in Seattle people are going hungry, food prices are skyrocketing, taxes consume a third of the national income, our cities are in crisis, the environment is deteriorating, drug abuse is increasing, and the war continues in Indochina. The fundamental right of a job to support one's family has been denied to tens of thousands of 1st District residents.

John Hempelmann says: "Only a vigorous full-employment policy stressing economic diversification can bring prosperity back to Seattle. Equity must be restored to the tax system, and federal revenues must be shared with local government. The inflation that eats away at paychecks, pensions and life savings must be stopped now. The time has come to make some changes."

Qualifications: John Hempelmann, a Seattle trial attorney, is a graduate of Blanchet High School and the University of Washington Law School. He holds Bachelor's and Master's degrees in government from Georgetown University in Washington, D.C. As a Staff Assistant to Senator Henry M. Jackson in 1964 and as a U.S. Senate Interior Committee Legislative Aide in 1966, he helped solve constituent problems and draft national legislation. As Chairman of CHECC, Seattle's widely praised municipal good government group, John led the successful fight to tighten Seattle's campaign finance laws. He was a Task Force Secretary on the Attorney General's Citizens Crime Commission. John and his wife Trish live in Seattle's North End.

Joel
PRITCHARD

Republican

Joel Pritchard is more than pledges and promises. He can get results in Congress. The First District needs a representative who is ready to deal with the problems of jobs, inflation, tax and welfare reform, and city life. Joel Pritchard has the experience, the ability and the commitment.

During Pritchard's twelve years in the State Senate and House of Representatives, he was a key leader in passing such important legislation as election reform, community colleges, consumer protection, property tax reductions for the elderly, billboard control and creation of the Department of Ecology. In his community he has been an active businessman (President, Griffin Envelope), and a concerned citizen. He headed the Major Gifts drive for the Seattle Kidney Fund, and served as chairman of the Citizens for Countywide Transit.

Joel Pritchard knows the problems facing his district—and the Congress—and he pledges vigorous action to: control inflation and achieve balanced economic growth; create a new, fair, national tax code; establish revenue sharing with states and local government; enact a full campaign financial disclosure law; reform the seniority system in Congress; achieve effective arms limitation consistent with realistic national defense requirements; provide fairer treatment for the elderly; develop new alternatives in public transportation.

Joel Pritchard is the one candidate who has produced results. He is ready now—by experience and by ability—to tackle the tough job of representing the First District.

By fighting to determine their own fate, the Vietnamese challenge the right of the American government, and the corporate interests it represents, to dominate the underdeveloped countries. The Socialist Workers candidates support the Vietnamese right to self-determination. We call for an immediate end to the bombing and the immediate, unconditional, withdrawal of all U.S. forces from Indochina. We also oppose all efforts by the U.S. government to turn the Middle East into another Vietnam. Support to the Palestinian struggle for self-determination against Zionism. Remove all U.S. bases from foreign soil. We support the struggle of the Vietnamese, the Palestinians, the Irish and all those who struggle for their self-determination. Blacks, Chicanos, Asian-Americans and Native Americans must control jobs, housing, schools, police in their own communities. Everywhere high and middle school students are participating in social struggles. The Socialist Workers candidates support the right to organize, distribute literature, form political clubs in public schools. Narcotics and all other undercover agents must be thrown out of the schools. Minority studies programs controlled by the oppressed minorities must be set up. Women's studies controlled by women must also be instituted. We also call for: support the Chicano party, La Raza Unida Party; build a Black party; build a labor party; full support to the feminist movement, pass the Equal Rights Amendment; an end to all discrimination against homosexuals; a democratic socialist America. United States Representative

Second Congressional District

Lloyd MEEDS

Democrat

Congressman Lloyd Meeds works hard and talks straight.

He believes people want jobs worth doing in an environment worth enjoying. And he's doing a lot about it.

Meeds co-authored the Emergency Employment Act, which created 700 local government jobs in the Second District. He helped pass extended unemployment compensation, co-sponsored economic disaster area relief and an Economic Recovery Conference to seek new jobs.

Meeds believes we can have both jobs and a sound environment. He sponsored the Ports and Waterways Safety Act to protect against oil spills. He helped create the Youth Conservation Corps to provide both summer jobs and better parks and campgrounds. He helped create North Cascades National Park and supports more recreation facilities there. He worked for the new North Cascades Highway.

Meeds believes our education system is out of kilter: too much emphasis on college degrees—too little on learning for earning. He wrote the Vocational Education Amendments of 1968 and expanded aid to occupational education this year.

Meeds is concerned about runaway health costs and spotty insurance coverage. He was one of the original sponsors of Medicare and now supports comprehensive national health insurance. He co-sponsored the Older Americans Act and supports increased Social Security benefits.

Meeds believes solving the drug problem will take care of half the crime problem. He wrote the Drug Abuse Education Act to tell young people the truth about drugs. A former prosecutor, he believes in both strict law enforcement and prevention.

He's worked hard to put more fairness and less favoritism in our tax laws by plugging loopholes.

Meeds works hard. His attendance record over the past eight years is one of the highest in Congress. But he comes home often to talk to people, listen and learn their problems. Lloyd Meeds works hard and he helps people.

United States Representative
Second Congressional District

Bill
REAMS
Republican

Bill Reams and Lloyd Meeds do not agree. Both are elected officials, Meeds the incumbent Congressman, Reams a younger, dynamic County Councilman.

The election contest between Bill Reams and Lloyd Meeds is a clear contrast between two points of view. Bill Reams is a Nixon Republican who wants to help people build a better life; a man who believes government should give help and service to citizens but should not control their lives, their jobs, their money.

Lloyd Meeds, on the other hand, is a welfare state dreamer. His voting record is consistently to the left of even George McGovern. He advocates more federal spending, higher taxes, larger welfare grants, greater federal controls.

Bill Reams is of the "new breed" of men determined to bring integrity, action and good management to government. Sound judgment, hard work and the honest belief that government is the servant of the people rather than their master, have made him an effective, respected elected official.

Bill Reams is a third generation resident of the second district. As a boy growing up on Whidbey Island, as a pitcher with the Blaine baseball team and now as a family man in the small community of Redmond, Bill Reams has developed an understanding and concern for the second district and its people.

In his first campaign for public office, Bill Reams was elected to the second largest governmental body in the state, the King County Council. He was then elected Chairman of that body. His record is exciting, his reputation outstanding.

Now Bill Reams is running for Congress. He is running because he does not agree with Lloyd Meeds. He is running because he believes "there is a better way."

Julia Butler
HANSEN
Democrat

Congresswoman Julia Butler Hansen, dean of the State delegation to the House of Representatives, chairman of the Appropriations Subcommittee on the Dept. of Interior and Related Agencies, has represented the Third Congressional District continuously since 1960.

Mrs. Hansen is the only woman member of Appropriations and is the first woman in congressional history to head an Appropriations Subcommittee, which reviews the funding proposals for programs of the U.S. Forest Service, National Park Service, Bureau of Indian Affairs, Youth Conservation Corps, Bureau of Land Management, Bureau of Outdoor Recreation, Bureau of Sports Fisheries and Wildlife, the Smithsonian Institution, National Federation on the Arts and Humanities, and many others.

Mrs. Hansen has volunteered for activities far beyond her heavy workload. She helped organize the prestigious "Democratic Study Group," comprised of the most forward looking progressive House members. She helped draft several significant House reform measures—including the one abolishing the old "seniority" rule for automatically elevating committee members to chairmanships.

The quality and thoroughness with which Mrs. Hansen fulfills her duties were probably best demonstrated during her past term of office. After completing presentation of her appropriations bill, she was given a spontaneous bi-partisan standing ovation by her colleagues—a rare occurrence.

Mrs. Hansen's is the state's largest district, containing all or parts of roughly one-third of the state's counties. It is comprised solely of small and medium sized cities and farming communities, plus vast stretches of national forest and parks, shoreline and waterways, family farms and suburban tracts.

Prior to entering Congress, Mrs. Hansen served 22 years in the state House. She was chairman of the House Education Committee and of the Highways Committee. She headed the Western Interstate Committee on Highway Policy Problems for 11 western states.

Julia Butler Hansen has resided her entire life in the Third District, including the communities of Olympia, Orting and Buckley. She is the descendant of a pioneer family that first moved to Olympia, Washington territory, in 1877. Mrs. Hansen and her husband, Henry, a retired logger, maintain their home at Cathlamet. Mrs. Hansen's mother was a school superintendent; her father a county sheriff. Mrs. Hansen is a graduate of the U. of W.

I wish to welcome all voters to the new Third Congressional District. To those whom I have not yet had the opportunity of meeting, I am R. C. (Skip) McConkey, a forty year old builder from Olympia, and have lived in the Third Congressional District all of my life.

I would like to remind the voters that ours is a republic of sovereign states under a written constitution. You elect those you wish to represent you in Congress. Therefore, the first concern of any member of Congress should be to protect the interest of all his constituents.

One of the many things which affect all of us is inflation. We (especially those of us on fixed incomes such as the elderly) have been grievously hurt by inflation. Yet so many of us are unaware that inflation is caused by deficit spending (borrowing money instead of cutting spending) for programs which are by and large in defiance of the limitations set by the Constitution.

It seems to me the cure for inflation must lie in curbing deficit spending, and not in wage-price controls. The freezing of wages, salaries and prices cannot stop inflation, but can and does undermine the bargaining power of workers as well as hampering the proper function of the competitive free enterprise system.

Every possible action to restore the Constitution should be taken, and I believe the oath of office taken by every representative to Congress means what it says: "I do solemnly swear to support and defend the Constitution of the United States.

Floyd V.
HICKS

Democrat

During his eight years as a member of the House of Representatives, Floyd V. Hicks has earned the reputation of a hardworking and independent Congressman who prides himself on keeping in touch with the people of the 6th Congressional District.

On the prestigious Armed Services and important Government Operations Committees, Congressman Hicks has joined with Senators Magnuson and Jackson to form an effective legislative team for the 6th Congressional District. As Senator Magnuson says: "Congressman Hicks is a team player who always works very closely with Scoop and me."

A teacher and athletic coach before World War II, Hicks served in the Army Air Corps from 1942 to 1946. Returning to further his education at the University of Washington law school, he graduated in 1948 and thereafter practiced law in Pierce County. Appointed Superior Court Judge in 1961, Hicks was elected to that position in 1962. Choosing to return to private practice in May 1963, he was an active attorney until elected to the 89th Congress in November 1964.

A conscientious Member of Congress, Hicks rarely misses a vote—compiling a 97.6 percent voting record for this session (at deadline time for this candidates pamphlet). His committee attendance is both regular and punctual. Senator Jackson states: "Floyd is always on the job—whether he is in the Halls of Congress or in his District Office."

Congressman Hicks' personal pledge to the 6th District voters: Representing you in Congress these past 8 years has been my great honor and high privilege. If re-elected, I will continue to work with our great Senators as a legislative team for you and for the best interest of the 6th District, our State and Nation.

Thomas C.
LOWRY
Republican

Tom Lowry is a new name in 1972 politics. A successful Tacoma lawyer, he is a man who feels that in his life he should devote some of his time to public service. He has the proven experience and maturity to indeed represent the 6th District. Lowry has been practicing law since he was graduated from the U. of W. Law School in 1954. He has served as a Judge Advocate at Fairchild Air Force Base, as an Assistant City Attorney for Tacoma from 1958 to 1961. Since that time he has been in private practice in Tacoma.

Tom Lowry has involved himself with citizen programs in civic improvements, planning and zoning, and government reorganization. Tom Lowry has developed a talent for the new and the necessary—and a talent for putting it across. In the nation's capital Tom Lowry will continue to dedicate himself to voicing and bringing action on the concerns of others. He understands what the people of the 6th District are most concerned about—Puget Sound Naval Shipyard, Port of Tacoma, jobs, foreign trade, labor-industry relationships, taxes, crime prevention, and environmental protection.

Tom Lowry is married and the father of three children. He is 43 and a lifelong resident of Pierce County, having lived in both Tacoma and Lakewood.

Brock
Democrat

In his eight years as Congressman, Brock Adams has established himself as an energetic and articulate representative of the 7th Congressional District.

A member of the powerful Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee, Adams is known on Capitol Hill as a national expert on transportation and aeronautics. Crucial in the development of the airport and airways modernization program and deeply involved in the development of new high-speed surface transportation, Brock Adams recognizes that the economic vitality of the Pacific Northwest is dependent upon the creation of a new, comprehensive transportation policy for the nation.

Whether fighting to change national spending priorities, guiding legislation through Congress to extend unemployment compensation to residents of the State of Washington or struggling to protect the Public Health Service Hospital in Seattle, Adams works to carry out his commitment to the people of the 7th District.

Adams is aware that the American public has become disillusioned with the workings of government, but believes that the American public will follow enlightened political idealism. This is shown by his recent statement: We must restore prosperity to our area and still do our part to stop the war, reorder our nation's priorities, improve the environment and provide a quality of life that gives an equal chance to everyone.

A resident of Seattle for most of his life, Brock graduated from Broadway High School and the U of W where he was a summa cum laude graduate in Economics. He is a Navy veteran, graduated from Harvard Law School, practiced law in Seattle and was appointed U.S. District Attorney for Western Washington by President Kennedy in 1961. He has also instructed law courses for the American Institute of Banking and is the author of articles on Federal Tax Law.

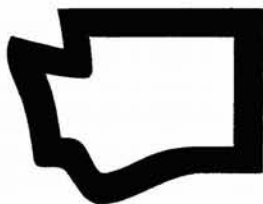

Brock and his wife, Betty, have four children.

Governor

State of Washington

Albert D.
ROSELLINI

Democrat

Albert D. Rosellini served as Governor of the State from 1957 to 1965. His administration was highlighted by outstanding improvements in programs for juvenile and adult corrections institutions, mental hospitals, schools for the retarded, the deaf and the blind. Our network of highways and bridges flourished. He established the State Department of Commerce and Economic Development and revitalized the State Parks dept. As Governor, Rosellini helped generate the nation's first profit-making World's Fair. During his second term, Rosellini's fellow governors recognized his administrative abilities by electing him chairman of the National Governors' Conference. Since leaving office, Rosellini has remained active in civic and political affairs while maintaining a busy private law practice. During the past year, for instance, he served as Chmn. of the U.S. Olympic Committee for Washington State.

Rosellini accepted the mandate to run again for the state's highest office after countless statewide discussions with residents concerned about the monstrous growth of more expensive and less efficient government in Olympia. Rosellini's candidacy is rooted in a commitment to return fiscal responsibility to State government. During the 1973-75 biennium, he will reduce the cost of running the state by $100,000,000. From his 18 years in the State Senate and his experience as Governor, he knows where the deadwood is. He knows how to cut costs without cutting efficiency. The savings will be used to reduce property taxes by 15 to 17 per cent. Rosellini has also called for an aggressive drive to promote new pollution-free industry, no new or increased taxes for the next 4 years unless approved by the people at the polls, and revamping of the unwieldy Dept. of Social and Health Services. During the Rosellini administration, State institutions were among the nation's finest, and he plans to restore them to this position of leadership. During his political career, Rosellini has become known as a warm, attentive man with an all-consuming concern for the welfare of the residents of Washington. A resident of Seattle, he is married to the former Ethel K. McNeil. The Rosellinis have five children.

Daniel J.
EVANS
Republican

Honest administration, personal integrity and a solid record of progressive accomplishment. These have been the marks of the administration of Governor Dan Evans. During his term in office the state of Washington and the United States have gone through some of the most difficult times in our history. They were times of testing for every citizen. But during these years the people of Washington have responded to the challenge under the leadership of Dan Evans: a great governor for a great state!

Look at the record:

Today the state of Washington stands in the first rank among all states in meeting the challenge of environmental quality—for this generation and generations of the future;

We have an educational system which is acknowledged to rank with the finest in the nation. Washington citizens now have an average education of 12.4 years, second highest among all states;

Washington ranks far below the national average of people on public assistance and has less than one-half as many welfare recipients as California per 1,000 population. At the same time during the past eight years we have led the nation in providing programs of training and rehabilitation for those on public assistance;

In contrast to the eight years of the previous administration, under Dan Evans the state has had no deficits and has been in the black for eight straight years;

Due in large measure to an aggressive highway safety program Washington's highways are now the safest in the West;

The average productivity of Washington state employees is up 20% since 1965. For example, while community college enrollment has gone up 197%, employees have gone up only 68%; while state park attendance has almost doubled to 24 million visitors annually, there has been an increase of only 16% additional employees; while salmon hatchery production has tripled there have been only 9% more employees. This is a record which goes throughout state government.

Dan Evans has led the fight for tax relief for the elderly and for all citizens; for economic development and new employment opportunities for all people; for volunteer programs involving 29 thousand people providing a wide range of services for those who need them—and at no cost to the taxpayer.

But the most important thing about Dan Evans is that he cares about people—all people—and is willing to work with them, through success and disappointment, to help solve their problems.

Whether visiting with international leaders to enhance foreign trade, listening to citizens from all parts of the state give their ideas on tax reform or talking to young people about their concerns and aspirations Dan Evans cares about people and his actions show it.

Dan Evans is a governor for today and for the years ahead. He believes in constructive action for the future, not the tired and shopworn rhetoric and promises of the past. Honest, straightforward and forthright, Dan Evans has provided exceptional leadership for Washington. Let's keep it a great state and safeguard its future by electing Dan Evans as Governor.

Governor
State of Washington

Vick
GOULD

Taxpayer$ Party to Cut Taxe$

Give yourself a pay-raise! Cut taxes! There is nothing wrong with our State that less taxes can't cure. Only people pay taxes. 45c of every dollar earned goes for taxes. Gould is an "un-politician"—Bellevue businessman — real estate broker — law degree — sponsor of the Limit Tax Initiative in 1970. He is an experienced "tax-fighter" serving on numerous citizens' committees, but has never held a paid elective office. Gould gives you a signed "office back" guarantee that he "will consistently act to cut tax spending, cut taxes, and pass no new tax." Gould will use common sense and the veto power. The Governor is the key point for tax control and spending cuts. To create jobs we must attract private business by eliminating and prohibiting the inventory, business and occupational tax. Cut welfare costs to reduce your taxes. Eliminate and prohibit sales tax on grocery food and prescription drugs. No tax foreclosures on homes of elderly or disabled. Require full state funding of locally controlled basic education, vocational schools and technical schools as our constitution provides. Cut property taxes with SJR-1 and Initiative 44. Offset above tax loss by cutting spending $350 million (less than 10% of budget) and adopt "users pay" or "let's go Dutch" for any government services. The first priority and responsibility of any government is to protect your person, your property, and your liberty.

Gould opposes: Mandatory bussing — gun registration — income tax. It is time that the taxpayer has a voice for a change! National surveys report 90% of all campaign funds are donated by only 1% of the people. If you believe in self-government, you, yourself, must get involved. Gould's campaign is supported only by individual taxpayers.

Henry KILLMAN

Socialist Labor

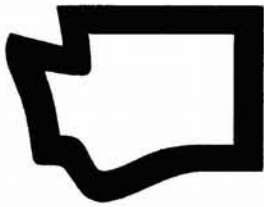

The time is now when we must find a solution to the many crises that are making shambles of the lives of so many of our citizens.

We are all aware of the effects when major industries are forced to cut back or close down. Workers are laid off because further employment is not profitable. Such is the case today of millions of unemployed all across the nation. It is, in fact, this lack of enough jobs with adequate income that is the basic cause of racial tensions.

We are all aware of the pollution of all phases of our environment to the extent that many ecologists give man but a short time on this planet unless present trends are reversed. Yet, those mostly responsible for large amounts of this pollution, the big corporations, resist every effort to reduce industrial pollution, because it cuts into their profits. This is also true of other pollutants where profits are made from their use or sale. And the ever threatening nuclear bomb could become the most devastating pollutant of all.

All of these crises and many more are the result of profit motivated capitalism. It is outmoded and decadent and needs to be replaced with a new social order that will be compatible with modern modes of production. The Socialist Labor Party advocates a new form of society in which production and services are carried on for the benefit of all instead of for the profit of a few. The Socialist

Labor Party believes this can be accomplished by peaceful and civilized means. The working class must organize politically to make their wishes known at the ballot box, and industrially into Socialist Industrial Unions, to be ready to take over the industries and services and run them democratically for the benefit of all.

Governor
State of Washington

Robin
DAVID

Socialist Workers

The Vietnam war has been waged in the interest of big business by Democratic and Republican administrations alike. Both parties claim the war is not a local issue. The Socialist Workers candidates disagree. The war is at the center of many of our problems, claiming resources that should be used for their solution. We call for immediate, total, unconditional withdrawal of all U.S. forces from Indochina. Stop the bombing now. The Governor's office should be used to mobilize the people of Washington for the National Peace Action Coalition called for antiwar demonstrations on October 26 and November 18. Unemployment continues at depression levels, while Boeing makes its biggest profits ever. Institute a 32-hour 4-day work week without paycuts spreading the available work around. Unemployment compensation at full pay for full length of unemployment. Wages, pensions, welfare benefits must rise at least as fast as inflation. Write escalator clauses into all wage contracts and social welfare legislation. Tax the rich. 100% tax on all incomes over $25,000; no tax on incomes under $10,000. 100% tax on war profits and industrial polluters. End the sales tax; end the property tax on the homes of workers, unemployed, retired. Blacks, Chicanos, Asian-Americans, Indians must control their own communities. Full support to the Central Area School Council plan and to the United Construction Workers. Support La Raza Unida Party, the Chicano party, a real alternative to the Democrats and Republicans. Full support to Indian fishing and other treaty rights. Pass the Equal Rights Amendment; abolish all anti-abortion laws; free 24-hour a day child care. Abolish all laws against homosexuals. For a democratic socialist America. Robin David graduated from the University of Wisconsin. He has been an antiwar leader and activist since 1965.

Lieutenant Governor

State of Washington

John A.
CHERBERG

Democrat

John Cherberg is the Qualified Candidate for Lieutenant Governor. The people whose business it is to know state government say this about Lieutenant Governor Cherberg:

"Cherberg's gavel has saved billions of dollars for the State." Jack Pyle, Tacoma News Tribune. "... one of the most respected and admired public officials ever elected to office by the voters of Washington." John Richmond, Fire Fighter Magazine. "I propose a 21-gun pre-Memorial Day salute to Lieutenant Governor Cherberg" for his executive-request bill, the "Open Public Meetings Act." Maxine Cushing Gray, Seattle Argus. "Cherberg earned and has maintained a reputation for fairness and impartiality as the Senate's presiding officer." Adele Ferguson, Bremerton Sun.

"Lt. Governor Cherberg has been acting in the highest tradition of elected public officials in his actions concerning the State's investment policy." Joe Davis, State Labor Council. "A dedicated and influential advocate of better educational opportunities for all children ... Cherberg was a key factor in helping public and private education with their legislative programs." Dave Irwin, Washington Federation of Independent Schools.

Honored for outstanding public service and achievement by local and national organizations, John Cherberg is truly a champion of the people. Because he serves ALL the people, John Cherberg merits re-election as your Lieutenant Governor.

Hal

Republican

The office of Lieutenant Governor should mean something to the people of Washington. That's why Hal Wolf is seeking the office. He has distinguished himself as a leader in the House of Representatives, representing the needs and concerns of "people problems". He listens—then acts. He believes the second highest office in our State should be first a listening post then a launching post for problem solving. Hal Wolf will be a full-time Lieutenant Governor, dedicated to making the office an office of the people.

Hal Wolf is from a small town—Yelm. He is married with a growing family. He works at his store, goes to church, spends time with his family, pays taxes, watches the ball game—just like you. He can be your voice in the decision-making process of State government. He knows the problems because they are his problems too. He wants to combine his Legislative experience with his sensitivity to concerns of the people to work for you as your full-time Lieutenant Governor. His stature and vigor, together with his statewide respect, make him a natural for the position of Lieutenant Governor. Vote Wolf for Action—then call Wolf for Action.

Secretary of State

State of Washington

Don

Democrat

Don Bonker is the reform-minded Clark County auditor who has gained national recognition for his new and imaginative ideas on improving elections. He led the fight to win legislative approval of punchcard voting and devised an election program in his county which was virtually flawless. He initiated a practice of mailing sample ballots to all voters before every election. His reforms cut election spending by fifty percent.

By contrast, the present Secretary of State's record is marked with neglect, ineffectiveness and political opportunism. Election costs in some cases have soared to $6 per ballot, $250,000 a year remains uncollected from corporations, and the incumbent and staff spent $39,000 last biennium touring the state. The State Auditor has repeatedly criticized the Secretary of State for sloppy procedures in handling state monies and general laxness of supervision.

Don Bonker would bring needed reform to the election system, improve and expand voter registration, and eliminate unnecessary red tape and cost.

Bonker does more than just support openness in government—he was the first Secretary of State candidate to voluntarily disclose his contributions.

A graduate of Lewis & Clark College, Don Bonker, at 35, is in his second term as Clark County Auditor.

A. Ludlow
KRAMER

Republican

As Secretary of State, I have revised our office procedures through needed legislation and necessary administrative changes. Consequently, we are spending less in the 1971 biennium while doing twice the work, than we were ten years ago. As chief elections officer, I have initiated 80 pieces of legislation relating to electoral reform in Washington State. These have saved the taxpayers over one million dollars every five years and have helped bring over three quarters of a million new voters into the political process.

I believe strongly, however, that the most important responsibility of any public official, regardless of his job description is to the people. The responsibility to listen, to care, and to act.

I make the following pledge: To continue working directly with the people on a one-to-one basis, with the young and the old, with citizens of all races, with those who live in the cities and those living in the countryside. Essentially, I pledge to continue as an aggressive advocate for the people and to be their voice in state government. I will also continue to work on opening our electoral system. With your support, I will carry forward this program.

Ann
MONTAGUE

Socialist Workers

The Democrats and Republicans, who represent the rich, have kept the ballot closed to themselves. The Secretary of State must open the ballot to all. Ann Montague is suing to knock down the fees required to get on the ballot. The Socialist Workers candidates also support the Communist Party case against the loyalty oath as a ballot requirement. The Democrat and Republican parties are not reliable allies of women and gay people. The Democrats proved this at their national convention. The Socialist Workers candidates fully support feminism, calling for: passage of the Equal Rights Amendment; abolition of all anti-abortion laws; free 24-hour a day child care. All laws against homosexuals must go. End the policies of police, landlords and employers which discriminate against gay people. We also call for: immediate, unconditional withdrawal of all U.S. forces from Indochina; Blacks, Chicanos, Asian-Americans, and Indians must control their own communities; end unemployment and wage controls; a democratic socialist America. Ann Montague graduated from Central Washington State College and is an office worker. She is an activist in the feminist and gay movements. She has also been a longtime activist in the antiwar movement.

State Treasurer

State of Washington

Robert S.
O'BRIEN
Democrat

State Treasurer O'Brien, a native of Washington, was an administrator with a large Washington based corporation, leaving to operate his own successful business before being elected and serving 14 years as Grant County Treasurer, and is now your State Treasurer.

His greatly expanded and prudently managed investment program resulted in earnings on temporarily surplus funds of $108 million during his tenure in office.

He sponsored legislation which eliminated obsolete statutes and archaic practices, thus allowing use of modern and efficient Treasury management. His program updated investment authority statutes to allow prudent selection of higher yielding securities in a changing money market. The results are reflected in total state fund investment earnings of $90.1 million annually.

He sponsored other progressive legislation establishing a statewide direct banking system for revenue collections, as well as enlarging the pooled investment program, resulting in sizeable increases in investable dollars.

Treasurer O'Brien's progressive leadership and administrative ability have received regional and national acclaim. Recently elected Treasurer of National Association of State Auditors, Comptrollers and Treasurers; Past President of Western State Treasurers Conference; while Grant County Treasurer was elected president of Washington State Association of Elected County Officials three consecutive terms, the only public official so honored.

Norward J.
BROOKS
Republican

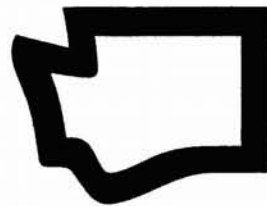

Norward Joseph Brooks, King County Director of Records and Elections (County Auditor) sees an opportunity to bring to the office of State Treasurer new and innovative programs similar to the ones he designed to modernize his department.

The office of State Treasurer should be limited to one four-year term, as specified by State Constitution until 1957, for very good reason. The incumbent now seeks an unprecedented third term. That is too long for even the most noble person.

By introducing computerized methods, the new Treasurer can set up automated cash flow systems to help reduce tieups of working cash, and convert it into interest bearing receipts. In an average year, the State loses $1.4 million in revenue (and tax relief) because large sums of public funds lie dormant in interest free bank deposits.

Brooks, 37, the son of a Louisiana laborer, worked his way up to an M.B.A. in Marketing from Seattle U. and to managership of Boeing's Electronic Data Processing Group. He served as Executive Director of United Inner City Development Foundation and has headed up a dozen professional, community service and athletic organizations. Brooks, wife Violet, and three children, Bellevue residents, have lived in Washington 16 years.

R. V. (Bob)
GRAHAM
Democrat

Robert V. "Bob" Graham is a native Washingtonian, seeking reelection as "Your Qualified Independent State Auditor."

Bob is qualified by education and experience;

these qualifications have paid rich dividends for the citizens of the State of Washington. Bob's success in protecting the taxpayers' interests is recognized by professionals:

"The State of Washington is using a sophisticated audit system. Professionally, Washington State ranks in the top 10 in the nation for their audit procedures."—Mortimer A. Dittenhofer, U.S. General Accounting Office.

"Mr. Graham is one of the most capable State Auditors to hold office anywhere in the United States. His staff is well-trained, properly supervised, and professionally motivated in its work."—Dr. Lennis M. Knighton, University of Texas, and consultant, U.S. General Accounting Office.

Independence is absolutely essential to the state auditor's work: "Yes, I believe it (the post audit) should be independent of parties, and I think Bob Graham comes close to being that independent."—Governor Daniel J. Evans.

Bob Graham believes strongly in an independently elected state auditor, responsive to the legislature, and responsible to the people of the State of Washington.

Your vote for Bob Graham will affirm these vital principles of public service.

Thomas F.
BANGASSER
Republican

Tom Bangasser is the best qualified for State Auditor. Bangasser specializes in modern auditing, computer technology and tax accounting.

Bangasser's education and experience include: 1—Graduate, Seattle U. School of Business. Senior year Presidential scholarship. Student body president. 2—Masters of Business Administration candidate in Accounting and CPA. 3—Graduate, Defense Department Logistics Management School. 4—Member, National Panel, The American Arbitration Association. 5—Army Officer's Commendation Medal for design/implementation of "Auditing System" to monitor largest Pacific area maintenance depot. 6—Instructor/teacher "Management Information Systems". 7—Supervised staff of 150 technical and management personnel. 8—Currently the youngest corporate officer in thirty-year-old international business consulting firm. 9—1971 inspected Eastern European and Russian industrial and technological achievements pertaining to American consulting work. 10—Board member federally chartered "Small Business Investment Company" (MES-BIC).

Bangasser is fully qualified to implement newest accounting and arbitration techniques, management auditing and impact analysis. This locks the barn door before the horse is gone. Bangasser's continuous monitoring will benefit every citizen.

Forty years of uninterrupted one-party domination of the State Auditor's office demands an infusion of "new blood". Work For and Vote For Tom Bangasser—the best qualified candidate for State Auditor.

This office will be won by one vote—yours!

Attorney General

State of Washington

Fred
DORE
Democrat

During 23 years as an attorney, I have never seen the morale so low in the Attorney General's office. We must restore professionalism and ethical integrity. My record includes winning 15 out of 16 cases before the State Supreme Court, among them a landmark real estate tax case that gave a $6.5 million rebate to North King County residents and triggered legislation for tax rollbacks in 16 counties.

I will: Stop hiring outside counsel at large fees to perform functions that should be handled by the Attorney's staff; develop a new consumer protection program to replace the PR effort that has masked the incumbent's career politics; press for fair and equitable real estate taxes (save our homes) for everyone; ban "moonlighting" by any of the Attorney's staff and forbid fees on state legal business; stamp out widespread sale of hard drugs; give leadership to law enforcement to make our citizens safe in their homes and on the streets.

Career: 19 years in Leg.; chairman, Senate Appropriations Comm.; broad legislative experience at all levels. Alumnus of Seattle U., Georgetown Law School. Member of board of Pacific Science Center, Art Commission, Judicial Council and Senate Board of Ethics. Top labor record. Friend of education. Married. Five children. Born in Seattle 47 years ago.

Slade
GORTON
Republican

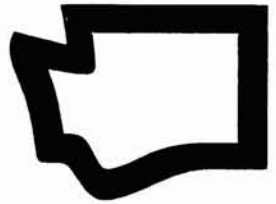

Since his election as Washington's chief legal officer, Attorney General Slade Gorton has built a record of solid achievement for the citizens of this state.

Slade Gorton has: helped direct 22 million dollars to local law enforcement agencies to reduce juvenile delinquency, control drugs, improve police communications and training, and to reform the courts; won 95% of the actions brought to protect Washington's consumers, including the largest in the state's history; acted to protect the public interest in ocean beaches, oil spills, and other environmental areas; accomplished unit pricing at grocery stores without legislative action; vigorously prosecuted the case involving secret payment to O'Connell of a half million dollars; forced cleanup of questionable car dealer practices, particularly Ralph Williams; worked to strengthen registration of lobbyists; sponsored and pushed a host of legislative measures beneficial to citizens of this state.

The Gorton Record has not been established the easy way. It has been built on conviction, integrity and forthrightness, regardless of outcome or consequences. He has never taken comfort in small victories, nor feared to lose if the cause was just. It is the kind of record that deserves the support of the voters.

Superintendent of Public Instruction state's chief education policy maker, manager of our education system, and spokesman for the needs of our youth. As a legislator, he has chaired and served on important education and budget committees and has participated with governors and other elective officials in making hard priority decisions. He will be an effective and outstanding Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Brouillet's Background: BA, MA, EdD degrees; teacher, counselor, coach, administrator, assistant to president, Highline College; personnel, budgeting, employee relations; state legislator, sixteen years; chairman, Joint Committee on Education, House Education Committee; vice-chairman, Special Levy Study Commission; member, House Rules and Appropriations committees, Free Conference Budget Committee; Higher Education Council; commissioner, Interstate Education Compact.

Brouillet's Concern: A happy, productive educational experience for every student.

Elect Brouillet.

James S. (Jim)
MOORE

Non-Partisan

Jim Moore, 40, is an educator, administrator, and psychologist in the Seattle Schools. Jim, his wife, Marty, and their two daughters and son live in Seattle (Ballard). Moore is strong on the teaching of reading, writing, arithmetic, spelling, handwriting, and other basic and advanced skills. He says, "We must have firm guidelines and standards restored to our curriculum, textbooks, teaching, administration, and student discipline. Liberal arts college preparatory courses must be excellent once again, but we must reduce them and increase the technical-vocational courses so that high school graduates can leave with work skills as well as academic skills. Our tax money must be put into teaching, not administration. School spending must be reduced so that we can reduce taxes. Parents must have more official voice in school matters. We must retain our excellent neighborhood schools. Businessmen must have a strong voice in school operations so we can have excellent management in our schools. Control over school policy must belong to school directors (boards), not teacher associations. Teacher training must emphasize subject specialty, rather than methods." Moore takes a strong stand opposing forced (mandatory) bussing. "Basic education, not integration, is the job of the schools."

Commissioner of Public Lands

State of Washington

Bert
COLE
Democrat

Three million acres of State trust lands and 5,000 miles of state-owned tide and shorelands are under the stewardship of the Dept. of Natural Resources, headed by Land Commissioner Bert Cole. The trust lands are a vital income-producing base for State and County government operations and school construction. Bert Cole believes in multiple use of natural resources and a common sense approach to environmental restraints. In backing up his beliefs with active programs, Cole worked to pass an overdue and much-needed mine reclamation law that will help end the blight and will repair ugly scars on the landscape. He established a dynamic marine land management program that is classifying Puget Sound waters into use categories and is encouraging pilot research projects in aquaculture and shellfish and seaweed harvesting. Recognizing the need for additional public recreation facilities, Cole is developing family primitive camp and picnic areas, boat access, trails for hikers, sportsmen, horses, jeeps, motorbikes and snowmobiles. To insure that Wn. residents have trees for the future, jobs and recreation for today and for future generations, Cole instituted and continues a major reforestation program. Bert Cole is recognized by state and nat'l leaders for his outstanding resource management ability. In 1969 Cole was honored with the "Conservationist of the Year" award, given by the National Wildlife Federation and the Sears Roebuck Foundation.

Karl HERRMANN

Democrat

Four years ago, I pledged to put my past experience in the Washington State Senate and the Attorney General's office to work for the benefit of the policyholders of this state and to further and protect the public interest in the office of the Insurance Commissioner. I now submit my record.

A basic innovation was the appointment of a public defender, who prepared cases for the consumers. Last year alone policyholders were saved $55 million by denial of rate increases through procedures upheld by the courts.

I have been successful in cleaning up insurance advertising practices and in running fast-buck operators out of the state.

When I took office, Federal Old Line Insurance Company had been turned over to my predecessor for rehabilitation, leaving several million dollars in unpaid death claims. My departmental request legislation providing guaranty funds was enacted into law. The policyholders will now be paid when insurance companies go broke.

I will recommend to the next session of the Legislature a no-fault insurance program which I believe will be the best so far advanced in the nation. I will also continue a vigorous program to assist policyholders in the protection and enforcement of their rights.

G. G. (Jim)
DUNNING

Republican

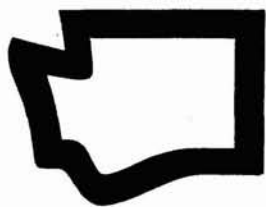

As an insurance agent with 13 years of successful experience, I believe I have considerable practical knowledge that would be of value in running the affairs of the office of Insurance Commissioner.

It is my firm conviction that an unfettered industry could best serve the people of this state. The object of the competitive system is to give the best quality service or product to the consumer at the least possible price. Industry must have some breathing room if it is to grow and prosper and provide employment for our people.

The present over-regulation of this industry can only lead to a complete government take-over of private business.

I would concentrate on measures that would prevent insolvency from occurring. This, I believe, would be the best remedy for making certain that tragedies like Federal Old Line Insurance Company's debacle would never reoccur in this state.

If elected, I will insist on sound, sane and sensible business principles being applied to all activities in this office.

I believe a trial judge should have these qualifications, which I possess to a greater degree than my opponent:

1) Greater variety of trial experience. 2) Broad community involvement at a leadership level and detailed knowledge of major aspects of life in the community: education, conservation, minorities, planning, fund-raising, social work and sports. 3) A willingness to be counted: not to fear antagonizing pressure groups or even litigants by deciding cases promptly and decisively, and by being strict and tough, if necessary, in criminal cases where the protection of society comes ahead of looking out for the individual felon.

After 5 terms as a State Representative, Gary Grant, 38, of Kent filed for the Senate in the new 11th District, hoping he would get the opportunity to use his experience there to the advantage of all Washington residents. Grant feels that the State Senate needs new leadership and foresight if Washington is to keep pace with tomorrow's needs.

Gary Grant acted as minority organization chairman—the second ranking post in the Democratic House Caucus—during the 42nd Legislative Session. From this position, he was able to exercise considerable influence in diverse areas.

Considerable space would be needed to name all the areas of his legislative involvement, for Gary Grant is one of the state's busiest and most effective legislators.

When he is not presenting the views of the citizen to the other legislators in Olympia, he is working at his regular job as President of Local 674, Public Service Employees.

Gary Grant was born in Chippewa Falls, Wisconsin, and his family moved to the Snoqualmie Valley when he was two years old. For more than ten years, he has lived in the Renton-Kent area.

In 1956, when he was just 21, he ran for a position as precinct committeeman and lost. In 1960, he ran for the same position and won, and two years later won his seat as a member of the Washington State House of Representatives from the 47th District. Last year, he was re-elected by a huge 70 percent margin.

Gary Grant is a graduate of St. Martin's College. He and his wife, Tanya, have four children.

The next session of the Legislature will be faced with many serious problems, especially in the areas of budgeting and finance, with emphasis on lowering of property taxes and the need for an equitable tax system, our economy, and urban measures.

My legislative experience and leadership will be extremely helpful in solving these problems. Also, the professional training I have as a C.P.A. is of great value. In the last session I served as Chairman, House Minority Executive Committee, have served four terms as House Speaker, President of the National Conference of State Legislative Leaders, and now serving on its Executive Committee.

History tells us that excessive government always leads to crushing taxes as we are beginning to experience today. Fellow taxpayers, why must we suffer this fate, when it can be corrected at the polls? Don't accept this slogan "Tax Reform" where tax increases are hidden under fancy names. We live in an age of deceit today, where we fight our enemy in one place and help them everywhere else. This is sold to the people (by the news media) as "Moral Leadership". Use sound judgement and don't depend on the media where their efforts are concentrated to mold opinion.

Youth face an unresponsive school system, unemployment, the draft. Money for the military must be rechanneled for a quality or educational system. Blacks, Asians, Chicanos must have equal voice on all policy and finance boards involved in desegregation plans. Quality education is the responsibility of the Legislature.

We have to learn to work together to help ourselves, (for politicians won't). We can build our own communities, our own co-op industries and medical centers until we set the government straight. I am qualified because I live in a country where I could start with nothing and in 20 years acquire enough surplus to take time out to study the important subjects of economics, politics and religion. As a result I hold with our founding forefathers who understood that all government leads to violence when not obeyed; who heeded the Bible warning that government was not intended to be a terror to good, but rather to evil; they remembered that the privation and starvation at Plymouth and the Jamestown Colony vanished when they abandoned the earlier experiment in socialism. When each person began to provide his own substance and charitable works the result was that happy occasion, the first Thanksgiving dinner. The lessons they learned then were embodied in our constitution.

If the United States was still following their direction today we would not be burdened with intolerable taxation, corruption in government, skyrocketing crime, mass unemployment, runaway inflation and the stifling effect of price and wage controls with rationing and other repressions sure to follow. I pray that enough Americans still hold to these traditions and understandings. I will work with them for less government and more individual responsibility.

Elected State Rep. '70, served Transportation, State Govt. and Natural Resources-Ecology Comms. Prime sponsor of successful legislation providing for construction of bicycle, equestrian and hiking trails. Age 39, married, 4 children, served in Air Force; Master's Deg. Electrical Engr., Bachelor's Economics, U. of W.; member Mun. League, Wash. Environmental Council, Metro Transit Liaison Comm., Mountaineers. "I urge voters support Initiative 276 and vote against Referendums 24 and 25. Initiative 276, a strong measure, addresses regulation of lobbyists and campaign financing. Referendum 25 (lobbyists) and Referendum 26 (campaign financing) are weak. Passage of Initiative 276 and either Referendum would result in incompatible laws."

Les
WOOD

Democrat
Position No. 2
46th Leg. Dist.
King, part

Les has been politically active for the past three years and has abundant leadership qualifications. He recognizes the inequities of changing laws from discrimination of the minority to discrimination of the majority.

Les admits to being conservative and tight-fisted with other peoples' money as his record proves, but he also recognizes that this District, County, State and this Country cannot survive without progress.

He doesn't pull any punches, hide behind the issues, or ride any fences. Les Wood will accomplish our goals without betraying his or our principles. His slogan, "You always get more with Les."

Through the selection of public officials who can recognize and cope with the prospects, the problems and the mounting pressures of our society, the voters shape the future of our state.

During my first term as your Representative, I have tried to be both responsible and responsive and to add to the knowledge and skills needed to be an effective Legislator. I sincerely hope that you will permit me to continue to represent you in the critical years that lie ahead of us.

Marion K.
SHERMAN

Democrat
Position No. 1
47th Leg. Dist.
King, part

Rolling hills, lush pastures, spectacular forested mountain scenery and quiet residential neighborhoods make the 47th District one worth preserving against uncontrolled, short-sighted development. I look forward to the State's assuming its constitutional role in funding schools, unburdening property taxes so we can enjoy life here; vocational opportunities for students who can become taxpaying citizens; public transportation at least as good as it was 30 years ago.

Kent
PULLEN

Republican
Position No. 1
47th Leg. Dist.
King, part

During recent months I have given you my views on (1) improving State spending efficiency; (2) correcting an unfair method of property assessment; (3) eliminating regressive taxes such as the inventory tax, which drives businesses and jobs to other states; (4) providing quality education for our children; (5) instituting judicial and penal reform; (6) meeting the needs of the elderly; and (7) eliminating bureaucratic bungling within our welfare system, in order to aid both taxpayers and those who truly need public assistance.

Serve the people! Social idealism must be supported over political lies. We must replace professional politicians with common people. The role of our elected leaders should be to facilitate social change and growth, not to maintain a false security in the status quo. All power to the people!

Frances C.
NORTH

Democrat
Position No. 2
47th Leg. Dist.
King, part

Five years in North Bend Town Council have aroused my concern for citizens of smaller areas. Work on YMCA Board, Nelems Hospital Auxiliary, and United Way has directed my interest toward healthy development for youth and aid for elderly. As former school board clerk and teacher's wife for 25 years, I will work for a fairer tax base for education. Once a Boeing secretary, now a housewife, I understand problems of "blue" and "white" collar workers.

Elaine M.
WOLF

Republican
Position No. 2
47th Leg. Dist.
King, part

A resident of the 47th district since 1950, Mrs. Wolf has been an active member of the community through her involvement in youth programs. As a member of the Issaquah School Board since 1967, she has been an outspoken supporter of quality education at a level of reasonable taxpayer support.

Mrs. Wolf strongly believes that we should put the penal systems back under the control of trained prison administrators instead of experimenting with untried open-door "prison reform" programs.

I believe strongly in the Liberty Amendment and oppose any state income tax. I am 42, and have been an employee of Puget Power Company for over 20 years.

I spent 4 years on active duty with the United States Navy and as a Chief Petty Officer in the Naval Air Reserve. I am a member of the Fleet Reserve Association, the American Legion, the Elks, the Masons, and am the Snoqualmie Valley Area Coordinator for "Create Cascade County".

One word expresses our needs today—quality. Seek a: quality environment with public transportation replacing highway blight; quality government with modern structures and procedures, that sees beyond special interests; quality educational system based on a revised tax structure, with full state funding of schools, saving special levies for “special” educational needs; and quality life for all with vanishing unemployment and underemployment, and increased dignity and security for our elderly. To find, elect a quality Representative, 14 year neighbor, married, three children, trained physicist with an objective and scientific approach to problem solving, owing no special loyalties, obligated only to you.

State Representative Jim Gilleland, Eastside businessman and resident 29 years, has participated in numerous civic activities, including the Bellevue Chamber of Commerce, YMCA, Boys' Club, Overlake Hospital, UGN, and park bond drives.

During his two years in the Legislature, Gilleland has served on the Transportation, Local Government and Natural Resources and Ecology committees, and worked on the Interim Transportation Committee. He has worked for passage of a King County Metro Transit System, and directed his Legislative efforts toward Traffic Safety, Highways and Transit, tax reform, and school levy relief legislation. Gilleland, his wife Sylvia and their four children are Bellevue residents.

Kenneth W. DAY

Democrat

Racism, repression and war have driven me out of the Republican Party. I advocate real equality for racial minorities and for women. (Remember, ladies—it's a secret ballot!) I'll fight for no-fault auto insurance—any plan vigorously opposed by the industry must be good for consumers. Interest on installment sales should remain limited to 12%. The state should finance public schools entirely, including college tuition. What consenting adults do in their bedrooms is nobody's business, and our sodomy law should be changed. The Vietnam carnage is everybody's business, and it must be stopped immediately.

John D. JONES

Republican
Position No. 2

King, part

John D. Jones, incumbent representative from the 48th Dist., has been active for over 20 years in civic affairs of the Bellevue community. In two terms as President of the Chamber of Commerce he has spearheaded actions that led to more equitable freight rates and the establishment of Bellevue Community College. Bellevue's participation in Unimart—1972, was under the co-chairmanship of Jones, who has never ceased exploring business opportunities on behalf of his constituency. John Jones resides in Kirkland with his wife, Ruth and two children. He will again serve as East Side Chairman for the 1972 United Way Fund Drive.

HOW TO OBTAIN AN ABSENTEE BALLOT

Any registered voter who will be away from home on the day of the election—or is so physically handicapped that he (or she) cannot vote in person should apply directly to his county auditor for an absentee ballot. Any signed request containing the necessary information will be honored. For your convenience, a model application is reproduced below.

In order to be certain that voter's application is authentic, our election laws require that the signature upon the application be verified by comparison with the signature on the voter's permanent registration record. For this reason, if husband and wife both wish to vote by absentee ballot, signatures of each are necessary. To be valid an absentee ballot must be voted (and the return envelope postmarked) no later than the day of the election.

MAIL EARLY! It is essential that ample time be allowed so that your absentee ballot will reach you on or before election day.
