How to Obtain an Absentee Ballot:

Any registered voter who cannot vote in person may apply directly to his or her county auditor or department of elections for an absentee ballot. Any signed request containing the necessary information will be honored. For your convenience, an application is reproduced below. The addresses of the auditors or departments of election are also listed below. In order to be certain that the voters' application is authentic, the election laws require that the signature on the application be verified by comparison with the signature on the voter's permanent registration record. For this reason, if a husband and wife both wish to vote by absentee ballot, separate, signed requests should be submitted. An additional copy of this application form is printed in the inside back cover of this pamphlet. In order to be counted, an absentee ballot must be voted and postmarked no later than the day of the election. For this reason, sufficient time must be allowed for an exchange of correspondence with the county auditor or department of elections.

Initiative Measure 350

TO THE PEOPLE

Official Ballot Title:

Shall public educational authorities be prohibited from assigning students to other than the nearest or next-nearest school with limited exceptions?

The Law as it now exists:

Under existing law, school districts have broad control over matters that affect the assignment of students to schools.

Each school district board of directors has the authority to adopt reasonable regulations which establish attendance areas, the grades to be offered at a given school, and otherwise directly or indirectly determine which schools within the district students shall attend.

Statement for

Over 180,000 citizens from around the state signed Initiative petitions to enable you to decide whether forced school busing is either wise or necessary.

350 PROTECTS LOCAL CONTROL OF SCHOOLS

Initiative 350 returns the most basic decision in education (i.e., where a child is to be educated) to the parent. 350 keeps local parental control of schools from being subverted by federal bureaucrats and promoters of forced busing.

Initiative 350 ensures that smaller school districts and rural school districts will not have their transportation funds reduced to pay for forced busing in Washington cities.

350 PRESERVES LOCAL NEIGHBORHOOD SCHOOLS

Initiative 350 guarantees children the right to attend the school nearest or next nearest their home. It is carefully worded so as to permit exceptions (such as special education of the handicapped student, health or safety hazards, physical barriers, unsafe conditions or overcrowding). Current essential busing in rural areas, for example, would not be affected. 350 permits the voluntary attendance of students in open enrollment or magnet programs, also.

350 SAVES TAX DOLLARS

Voters can prevent millions of tax dollars from being wasted this school year on forced busing. Those dollars could be spent on better classroom education. Children are not being taught the basics while they are unnecessarily riding a bus across town (past the school nearest their home).

350 IS EXERCISING YOUR LEGAL AND CONSTITUTIONAL RIGHT TO CHOOSE

You have the choice between bureaucratic control and common sense. Forced busing in our state has not been ordered by the Courts . . . BUT is another product of pressure by the pro-busing lobby on local administrators. Exercise your freedom of choice and VOTE "YES" ON INITIATIVE 350.

Rebuttal of Statement against

Initiative 350 keeps local, neighborhood schools from coming under the control of bureaucratic busing planners. The opponents' argument avoids the real issue, i.e., the value of forced school busing. Busing children away from the school nearest their home does not make common sense. Forced busing nonsense is financed by state taxes. Your tax dollars would pay for cross-city busing. Initiative 350 is carefully written to return local control of schools to parents (where it belongs).

Voters' Pamphlet Statement Prepared by:

HUBERT F. DONOHUE, State Senator; JIM MATSON, State Senator; WILLIAM M. POLK, State Representative.

Advisory Committee: ORVILLE L. BARNES, Member, State Board of Education; J. DORM BRAMAN, former Mayor, City of Seattle; WILLIAM L. WILKINS, retired Judge, King County Superior Court; ROBERT O. DORSE, President, Citizens for Voluntary Integration Committee (CIVIC).

The effect of Initiative 350, if approved into Law:

Initiative Measure 350, if approved, would limit the control of school officials over the assignment of students to particular schools.

This initiative would prohibit school officials from either directly or indirectly requiring a student to attend a school other than the school which is geographically the nearest or next-nearest the student's residence within the school district and which offers the course of study pursued by the student. The types of "indirect" action that would be prohibited if the action would prevent a student from attending his or her nearest or next-nearest school include, but are not limited to, plans involving: (1) The redefining of attendance zones; (2) feeder schools; (3) the reorganization of the grade structure of the schools; (4) the pairing of schools; (5) the merging of schools; (6) the clustering of schools; or (7) any other combination of grade restructuring, pairing, merging or clustering.

This initiative would allow school officials to require a student to attend a school other than the school nearest or next-nearest the student's residence only in the following instances: (1) If a student requires special education, care or guidance; (2) if there are health or safety hazards or physical barriers or obstacles between the student's residence and the nearest or next-nearest school; or (3) if the nearest or next-nearest school is unfit or inadequate because of overcrowding, unsafe conditions or lack of physical facilities. If a student is assigned to a school other than the school nearest or next-nearest the student's residence because of one or more of these reasons, the assignment must be to the next geographically nearest school within the school district with the necessary courses and facilities.

This initiative does not affect the right of a student voluntarily to attend a school other than the school nearest or next-nearest the student's residence or the right of school districts to close school facilities.

NOTE: The ballot title and explanatory statement were written by the Attorney General as required by state law. The complete text of Initiative Measure 350 begins on page 6.

Statement against

INITIATIVE 350 WOULD INTERFERE WITH EFFICIENT LOCAL CONTROL OF EDUCATION

350 would hamper local management in all of the state's school districts by taking away the authority of locally elected school boards to assign students in an educationally and economically sound manner. It would disrupt schools in the middle of this school year.

350 prohibits assignment of students outside their district; thus, it would restrict interdistrict cooperative programs.

350 would in some cases prohibit changing the grades offered in particular schools, such as converting some three-year to four-year high schools. It would prohibit most disciplinary transfers and the redrawing of school boundary lines to make efficient use of buildings. It would mean costly interference with location of special education programs. Because it is so poorly drafted, 350 would trigger costly court battles, interfere with school operation, and would present many implementation problems.

350 WOULD CAUSE SEGREGATION AND FEDERAL COURT INTERFERENCE JUST TO SOLVE A SEATTLE PROBLEM

350 was specifically written to rescind Seattle's locally developed desegregation plan.

Applying 350 to Seattle, Tacoma, Pasco, and other desegregated school districts would significantly increase racial segregation. This resegregation of schools could easily result in the initiative being found unconstitutional. This would mean that desegregation plans in Seattle and elsewhere would continue but the rest of the state would still be saddled with the initiative.

350 litigation could lead to court ordered busing between Seattle and surrounding districts, as well as to court imposed costs to the State.

The best way to avoid interference with local control of your own school policies and the possibility of court ordered busing is to vote no on 350.

Rebuttal of Statement for Initiative 350 threatens every school district. 350 restricts all school districts' power of pupil assignment, severely damaging local control. 350 could require massive school closures, and increased, not decreased, mandatory busing. By restricting local options, 350 would increase, not decrease, bureaucratic control. 350 would cause extensive and expensive court battles which would burden Washington taxpayers. To save neighborhood schools, keep costs down, and prevent elaborate court-ordered busing plans, vote NO on 350.

Voters' Pamphlet Statement Prepared by:

JOHN S. MURRAY, State Senator; ALAN THOMPSON, State Representative; EBEN CARLSON, Chairman, State Committee for Local Control.

Advisory Committee: DR. FRANK B. BROUILLET, Superintendent of Public Instruction; CAROL COE, President, Washington Education Association; DR. GEORGE T. DANIEL, President, Washington Association of School Administrators; DAVID J. WHITMORE, President, Washington State School Directors' Association; WALTER H. LEWIS, State Board of Education.

(1) If a student requires special education, care or guidance, he may be assigned and transported to the school offering courses and facilities for such special education, care or guidance;

(2) If there are health or safety hazards, either natural or man made, or physical barriers or obstacles, either natural or man made, between the student's place of residence and the nearest or next nearest school; or

THE OFFICE OF PRECINCT COMMITTEEMAN

In addition to the various state and county offices which will appear upon the general election ballot, most voters will have the opportunity to vote for the office of "precinct committeeman". At the 1977 session of the state legislature, the laws governing the official candidates' pamphlet were amended to provide for the inclusion of this description of the office of precinct committeeman and the duties and responsibilities of persons elected to that office.

WHO IS ELIGIBLE

State law (RCW 29.42.040) provides that any person who is a registered voter and a member of a major political party may become a candidate for the office of precinct committeeman by filing a declaration of candidacy and paying a one dollar filing fee to the county auditor. Since voters do not register by political party in Washington, a candidate declares himself or herself to be a Democrat or a Republican at the time he or she files for the office. The filing period for the office of precinct committeeman begins at the same time as the filing period for other partisan offices (the last Monday in July in even-numbered years), and lasts for three weeks, ending on the third Friday following that date.

ELECTION OF PRECINCT COMMITTEEMEN

Candidates for precinct committeeman do not appear on the primary ballot but rather are placed directly on the general election ballot, and the candidate receiving the most votes in his or her precinct for each political party is declared elected. State law (RCW 29.42.050) does provide, however, that to be declared elected, a candidate must receive at least ten percent (10%) of the number of votes cast for the candidate of his or her party receiving the greatest number of votes in that precinct.

TERM OF OFFICE AND VACANCIES

The term of office for anyone elected to the office of precinct committeeman is two years, and commences upon the official canvass of election returns by the county canvassing board. Should a vacancy occur in the office (caused by death, disqualification, resignation, or failure to elect), the usual process is for the chairman of the party central committee to fill the vacancy by appointment. Appointments to fill vacancies cannot be made between the state general election and the organization meeting of the county central committee, which must be held prior to the second Saturday in January following the election of precinct committeemen.

DUTIES OF PRECINCT COMMITTEEMEN AS MEMBERS OF THE COUNTY AND STATE CENTRAL COMMITTEES

1. Each precinct committeeman is a member of the county central committee. The county central committee has the authority to fill vacancies on the party ticket for partisan county offices and for legislative offices in districts entirely within that county when no candidate files for such a position or when a candidate or nominee dies or is disqualified leaving no candidate of that party for such an office; they may also nominate persons for appointment to these offices if an incumbent of that party resigns.

2. The state central committee has the authority under state law (RCW 29.42.020) to:
 - Call caucuses and conventions.
 - Provide for the election of delegates to national nominating conventions.
 - Fill vacancies on the party ticket for any federal, state or legislative office which encompasses more than one county.
 - Nominate persons to fill vacancies in state or legislative offices caused by resignation or death of an incumbent of that party.
 - Provide for the nomination of presidential electors.
 - Perform other functions inherent in such an organization.

NON-STATUTORY DUTIES AND RESPONSIBILITIES OF PRECINCT COMMITTEEMEN

Specific duties and responsibilities of a precinct committeeman are usually determined by either the county or state central committees. The following duties are commonly assigned to precinct committeemen by their party organization:

- Keep informed on current issues and candidates, study the party platform.
- Attend meetings of county committees and actively participate in fund-raising activities.
- Obtain lists of registered voters from the County Auditor's office.
- Canvass the precinct and become acquainted with the voters residing therein.
- Establish a record of eligible voters and party members within the precinct.
- Encourage voter registration within the precinct.
- Distribute party election materials during election campaigns.
- Recommend party members to work as precinct election officers.
- Encourage voters to get out and vote on election day.
- Encourage the use of absentee ballots, when the need arises.
- Hold precinct caucuses at certain selected times for the purpose of adopting resolutions and selecting delegates to the county conventions.

Individuals who are interested in serving as precinct committeemen should contact the chairman of the county central committee of their party or the state committee office of that party. Their addresses are as follows:

United States Representative

First Congressional District

Joel
PRITCHARD
Republican

Congressman Joel Pritchard has worked for six years in the house of Representatives representing all the people in the First Congressional District. His experience in the House adds significantly to his ability to represent the people of his District.

He is one of the two U.S. Congressmen named to the National Commission on Neighborhoods, is the ranking minority member of the Oceanography Subcommittee, Chairman of the House Wednesday Group, a member of the Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee, and the Coast Guard and Navigation Subcommittee.

While moving steadily into Congressional leadership positions, he has not lost touch with the people of his district. Pritchard's record is built on effective communications with citizens at home. At least once every three weeks, Congressman Pritchard comes home to the First District, holding informal meetings with citizens. He holds "District Day" meetings in every neighborhood in the district to meet with any citizen who wishes to talk with him.

He has done more than give lip-service to the problems of inflation. He has co-sponsored a bill which calls for a substantial tax cut over a three-year period. In other areas of vital interest to his district, he helped lead the fight in the House to enact the 200-mile fisheries limit. He co-sponsored the Tanker Safety Act, tightening Coast Guard supervision of oil tankers, and he has consistently voted to hold down government spending.

Joel Pritchard believes in the accountability of his office. He has opened all of his campaign and personal finances to the public. He accepts no contributions of any kind from any special interest groups, corporations, labor unions or political action committees. His only obligation is to the voters of the First District.

Janice NIEMI
Democrat

Janice Niemi can make the 1st District count in Congress. A Democrat, Janice Niemi has the sensitivity, practical experience and majority party affiliation necessary to solve the problems of our urban district. Good voting attendance and staying in touch with citizens are important for a Representative, but Janice Niemi can do more.

Twice elected King County Superior Court Judge, Janice Niemi knows the legal system. She advocates prompt justice and guaranteed equal rights. She will produce clear legislation that won't require definition in the courts.

Janice Niemi believes government social programs should equip people to support themselves. She is committed to seeing that health care costs don't drive senior citizens into tax-supported institutions. She favors a national health insurance program.

Government seems to aid everyone except middle-income taxpayers. Janice Niemi wants action to slow inflation and ease the economic bind on families of average means. She wants to assure the survival of small businesses and guard consumers against the abuses of corporate giants. Janice Niemi will take a hard look at what our tax dollars are buying and vote for elimination of costly, ineffective federal programs.

A wife and mother of two grown children, Janice Niemi has successfully combined a full family life, a legal career and community involvement. She understands neighborhood issues.

Janice Niemi has spent her life working with people, making tough decisions and getting results. We need Janice Niemi's sound judgment and straightforward approach in Congress.

John H.
ADDISON
Libertarian

Government is the problem, not the solution!

Governments have a terrible record: slavery, war, inflation, and depression. In contrast, when individuals have been free to control their own lives, times are stable and prosperous. American history has followed such a course. Until the 20th century, there was a strong popular sentiment for individual liberty. The "no-government men" attacked slavery, government regulation and foreign entanglements. Unfortunately, the political commitment to freedom declined, as big businesses and power-hungry politicians united to push for domestic and foreign interventionism.

We now face the consequences of these disastrous policies: four wars in fifty years, crippling taxation, and simultaneous inflation and depression. With our tax money, bureaucrats control what we read, write, eat or drink and tell us how to conduct our business and pleasure. Thousands of small firms have been driven to bankruptcy by irrational regulations, while favored businesses are awarded government guarantees, subsidies, and bailouts. Inflation is fueled by government spending more money than it confiscates—we always get stuck with the bill. After 42% of our income goes to taxes and over $2500 per household pays for regulations, what's left of our money loses value to double-digit inflation.

Fortunately, the tide is turning. The tax revolt is the start of people saying "No" to the injustices of big government. Libertarians are leading the drive to roll back taxes, controls and special interest politics. Standing solidly on the principle that individuals are the sole owners of their lives, we advocate a return to the ideals that sparked the first libertarian revolution in 1776: a consistent stand for civil liberties, a truly free-market economy, and a non-interventionist foreign policy. For those of you who want neither to rule nor be ruled, vote for your freedom; vote Libertarian!

United States Representative

Seventh Congressional District

John E. "Jack"
CUNNINGHAM
Republican

Congressman Jack Cunningham is seeking re-election to the United States Congress, representing the 7th District of Washington.

Cunningham, elected to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Brock Adams, serves on the Government Operations Committee, Select Committee on Aging and the Privacy Task Force in Congress.

The Congressman is a strong defender of free enterprise and more private sector job opportunities.

He cites inflation and taxation as the two most critical problems facing the nation and Washington State today, and has pledged to continue his efforts to stop inflation at the federal level and work to reduce excessive taxation.

Congressman Cunningham has served in both Houses of the Washington State Legislature and has a proven record of fiscal responsibility and integrity. He will continue to represent the citizens of Washington in an open, accessible and honest manner and work to keep the costs of government down.

Congressman Cunningham's strong stand against wasteful federal spending has caused great concern in government circles. His deciding vote against a multi-billion dollar financial aid to cities spending bill demonstrated his willingness to take a strong stand against make-work government spending. His vote on funding for the B-1 Bomber which would strengthen the U.S. Defense posture in the world is an example of creating real jobs in the community. The Congressman has demonstrated his ability in the state legislature to stand up against big state government and he is continuing the fight against the massive federal bureaucracy.

The three branches of government—the Executive, Legislative and Judicial—were established by our forefathers to govern our great nation, but Congressman Cunningham is concerned that a fourth branch of government has been emerging over the last twenty years. It is called the Bureaucracy and that is what he is dedicated to fight.

United States Representative

Seventh Congressional District

Mike
LOWRY
Democrat

Mike Lowry is running for Congress because voters of the 7th District have lost their voice in Congress. They have lost their voice because Jack Cunningham, who spent one-quarter of a million dollars in out-of-state contributions, has consistently voted for wealthy special interests.

Mr. Cunningham has voted against the interests of workers, elderly, young people and consumers. He has the lowest labor rating in the Washington Congressional delegation. He received a "zero" rating from the National Council of Senior Citizens.

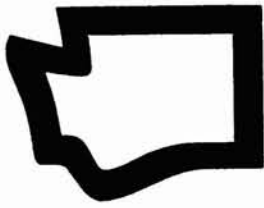

Cunningham's rhetoric about cutting taxes is just not consistent with his voting record. He voted to rebate money to be collected from the crude oil tax to giant oil companies instead of consumers. That would have cost consumers $2 billion per year. Cunningham voted for amendments on Social Security which increased the payroll tax burden on middle income people. And Cunningham voted to give government subsidies to giant corporate farms. Those kind of votes don't do anything to lessen pressures on family budgets.

By contrast, Mike Lowry, as a King County Councilman, has voted to strengthen basic services for senior citizens, police and fire protection, and emergency services like Medic-1. Mike wants taxpayers to receive the full benefit of their dollars. He has accomplished these goals within the limits of a balanced budget.

Mike has ten years of experience at the state and county level, where government is closest to the people. Mike understands the problems facing taxpayers and that is why he has proposed to rollback excessive Social Security taxes in a way that would guarantee health and retirement benefits for the elderly.

Mike Lowry's extensive governmental finance and budget experience is needed in Congress to reduce the inflationary, federal budget deficit.

Let's get our voice back in Congress. Let's elect Mike Lowry.

State Supreme Court

State of Washington

William H.
WILLIAMS
Nonpartisan

Each year, the responsibilities of the state's highest Court increase. Therefore, 'experience . . . where it counts' is the issue that is most important when you make your selection of Supreme Court Justice. Judge Williams, a man of 56, has served 20 years as Superior Court Judge. In addition, he has twice been Justice Pro Tem of the Supreme Court, served as Deputy Prosecuting Attorney for Spokane County, as Juvenile Court Judge, and in private practice of law.

Judge Williams enjoys the endorsement of many attorneys on both sides of the state, as well as that of Frank Hale and Robert Hunter, both retired Supreme Court Justices and co-chairmen of his committee. He was elected by his fellow judges and served as president of the Washington State Judges Association, and he now is chairman of the Judicial Ethics and Grievance Committee.

During WW II, Williams piloted a B24 bomber on 28 combat missions over Europe. A Spokane native, he is a graduate of the University of Idaho and received his law degree from Gonzaga University. Married and the father of five children, Williams has been active in the law since 1951.

Francis E.
HOLMAN
Nonpartisan

Judge Francis E. Holman, recognized among the state's leading lawyers and jurists, is 63 years old, married, with three children; educated in the Seattle Public Schools; graduated from Stanford, Oxford and Harvard Law School; served overseas in World War II with the state's 41st Infantry Division, and had active duty in the Korean War.

Judge Holman's experience has not been narrowly confined to the law. He has served in all three branches of government at both state and local levels, including: state representative and senator; mayor; member, Seattle's Metro Council; school director; hospital trustee; chairman, Carman Scholarship Committee. His accomplishments for public and private education are known statewide.

As first Chairman of the Public Disclosure Commission, Holman provided the essential leadership for implementing Initiative 276.

Judge Holman's 37 years in the legal profession include: membership on the Senate Judiciary Committee; American, Washington State and King County Bar Associations; and the American Judicature Society. Currently, he serves on the State Judicial Council and represents our state on the national Uniform Law Commission. Appointed Superior Court Judge for King County in 1973, he was twice re-elected without opposition, and is a graduate of the National College for the State Judiciary.

Arthur E.
PIEHLER
Nonpartisan

Rated "Well Qualified," after written and oral interviews, by the Seattle-King County Bar Association's Judicial Evaluation Committee. Seattle-King County Bar poll vote — Piehler 845; Nuxoll 177 and Pekelis 285.

Piehler has been an active trial attorney for over 25 years, trying cases in many fields of law. His skills and experience have often led to his being retained by attorneys to try their cases; "ask your lawyer."

Piehler is the only candidate with substantial trial experience in many fields of the law. He feels lack of experience leads to delay and errors, resulting in added expense to taxpayers and litigants.

He has lectured and written on subjects concerning trial and appellate practice for many years and in many states.

He would be a fair but firm trial judge, believing that a primary consideration in criminal sentencing is the protection of society.

He is endorsed by the Seattle Police Officers Guild, Seattle-King County Teamsters Unions, Seattle-King County Labor Council C.O.P.E., Washington Taxpayers Association and The United Republicans of Washington. He is a member of Seattle-King County Bar Association, Washington State Bar Association, Washington State Trial Lawyers Association, and American Trial Lawyers Association.

Nonpartisan

Roselle Higgins Pekelis, Seattle attorney and mother of three teenagers, has a broad range of experience. She worked for a Prosecuting Attorney's office and the Seattle Public Defender before entering private practice in 1974. Presently at the firm of Helsell, Fetterman, Martin, Todd and Hokanson, her practice embraces the legal problems of the family including marriage and separation contracts, divorce, adoption and juvenile cases, as well as employment problems and personal injury suits.

She has been active in community service and political projects; a language teacher, a mental health therapist and a dance instructor. Her understanding of people and their problems is extensive and personal. Her common sense approach to solving those problems is combined with competence in the law.

Rosselle Pekelis believes that the courts can and must be responsive to the communities they serve. The first step towards attaining that goal is to elect hardworking, competent judges with a fresh outlook on the law.

Iris
KNAPP
Republican

The candidacy of Iris Knapp provides the voters of 31st District a rare opportunity to make a change for the better. Such a challenger does not appear often.

Iris Knapp has lived and worked in the 31st District for 36 years. Married, mother of three, actively engaged in a myriad of community organizations and projects, Iris has proven she can serve her community effectively.

As a Highline school board member for 5 years now, Iris Knapp has been responsible for a budget of over $30 million for a school system of nearly 1000 employees, keeping school for the youngsters even after double levy failure. Fellow directors elected her their president. She has been selected as well to serve the cause of good education at the county and state.

Iris's talents have not been limited to education. Among other fields, she has been active in United Way; King County Lung Association; King County Family and Child Services; Director of Law Enforcement Assistance Administration Juvenile Court Project; and United Methodist Women.

In electing Iris Knapp to the State Senate, the 31st District voters will be sending an experienced manager to Olympia—one who will exercise common sense and sober judgment.

King
LYSEN
Democrat

For the past eight years, King Lysen has been a member of the state House of Representatives. He has developed a reputation as an independent legislator who is not afraid to speak out on issues, especially when the taxpaying public is being given a little too much double talk by the tax-eating government bureaucrats and powerful high-paid lobbyists.

King Lysen has refused to become one of the "good old boys" in Olympia. He does not follow the politician's creed, "go along to get along." He asks the tough questions of bureaucrats and lobbyists alike. He has been asking some tough questions of the recent $105.6 million ferry contract award, the largest single expenditure of borrowed tax dollars in the state's history.

Lysen was successful in developing and passing legislation keeping oil super-ports out of inner Puget Sound and Rosario Strait. When the Governor vetoed this law, Lysen went to this state's congressmen and Senator Magnuson who passed it through Congress. The Seattle P.I. editorialized that the vote limiting supertankers was "testimony to the political skills of Rep. King Lysen."

Lysen, as chairman of the Energy and Utilities Committee has been in the forefront of defending low-cost Northwest public power rates.

George L.
Republican

George Bailey, a fifty year old Boeing structural engineer, believes that a common man will be a better legislator than a professional politician. A man who works for a living understands why tax limitation and reduced spending are so important. The man who pays the education bills realizes that quality must be provided within affordable budget limits. The man who needs a job knows that ecology, while important, must be weighed against economic impact. To help keep professional politicians out and encourage concerned citizens to run, Bailey supports our part-time legislature concept, preferably, with a three term limit.

After his discharge from the army, he attended vocational school then spent many years in residential construction and contracting before going into the marine supply business in 1970.

She also served on local and state government advisory committees.

Eleanor continued her community activity after election to the state House of Representatives in 1974. She headed the Civil Air Patrol Advisory Committee, Fire District Civil Service Board, Basic Aid to Schools in Crisis, and Citizens for Local Government.

As a legislator, she held leadership positions in her caucus, on standing committees, and in her party. The success of bills she helped sponsor is nearly double the success rates for bills introduced in 1977.

She was elected to the state Senate last fall to continue working toward full funding for schools, services for the elderly, curbing state spending, improving the administration of justice, and preserving local control.

He will work hard to support immediate tax reform, both for individuals and companies, to replace the present business and occupation tax, reduce the state sales tax by reorganization of government spending, provide basic education for all students and vote against any initiative that forces busing of all children from neighborhood schools.

Republican

Sid Porter, Jr., 44, has grown up with the 34th District and, because they enjoy it here, he and his wife, Sally (also a native West Seattleite), have chosen to raise their family here.

Porter spends much of his own time working to make his community better. He is a long-time church school teacher and ruling elder in his church, a volunteer member of the West Seattle Juvenile Court Conference Committee, a member of the West Seattle Rotary Club, a worker in local Y.M.C.A. and Boy Scout programs, and a member of the West Seattle Chamber of Commerce.

Employed as a civil and structural engineer, Sid Porter has over 20 years' experience in design and construction management. He has worked closely with state laws. As a bridge-builder, he knows what it takes to provide adequate access to West Seattle.

A believer in neighborhood school attendance, Sid wants to work for local control of education.

Sid wants controlled property taxes and fair taxation for all. He believes government involvement is too big, too expensive and out of touch with the people. Porter believes government services can and must be delivered more efficiently.

Sid Porter, Jr., is an outstanding candidate.

Phil

Democrat

Phil Talmadge is the only candidate who is a life-long West Seattle resident; five generations of his family have lived or are living in West Seattle. He was co-chairman of the 1977 school levy for West Seattle. Phil is a member of Common Cause and the author of several highly-praised articles on legislative reform.

There is much to be done. The Granada Theater is gone; other centers of our community are in jeopardy. We need legislation and strong leadership to preserve the good from our past, while we rebuild for the future.

There is no issue more important than the threat of crime: A free and open society cannot hope to function in an atmosphere where each individual is so preoccupied with his or her personal security that the common values and aspirations we share are forgotten. Bernard J.
BAUM
Republican

It's time for a change. If, as I believe, government is our servant and not our master, then why hasn't it protected us against high interest rates, which are a principal cause of inflation. This remedy can be applied at state level. Four years ago you could buy a home in our district for a thousand dollars down, and payments you could live with. Not any more. It's time for a change.

We don't need more taxes or new taxes in Washington State—yet. But we do need, now, a close watch on where our tax moneys are spent, and a new and careful ordering of priorities. Do you know that to keep a felon in prison costs you twice what you pay to keep an elderly person in a nursing home? It's time for a change.

Are you sick of filling out forms, of turning your private life inside out for the government? Of really good sounding programs that sneak in administrative overhead costs of eighty-five percent and more? You apply for a low interest loan to fix your roof. The roof costs $1,500. The loan costs $2,800. Why? It's time for a change. Vote for Baum.

Senator Ridder has earned praise for the fairness and openness of her committee, and for her advocacy for the less powerful in budget proceedings. "I have been closely involved with the Senate Select Committee on Nursing Homes, and the public and governmental interest in these facilities will be a major subject of the next legislature. My district questionnaires have indicated strong support for social services and education, but at the same time a concern that taxes not be increased."

Ruthe and Bob Ridder are long-time Rainier District residents, where three of their five children are still at home. The next session of our state legislature will be faced with far-reaching problems of such complexity and magnitude that it will require the serious attention of able, experienced and knowledgeable legislators and all interested citizens. My professional background and training as a Certified Public Accountant will be of great assistance in resolving this problem.

Today's economic, social and political issues are difficult. I've been active long enough in the public and private sectors to know that there are no easy answers. However, I am interested in trying to find reasonable and practical answers to school financing, consumer protection, public safety, fair taxation, economy in government and environmental concerns.

I have been an independent businessman and professional fiscal planner for many years. It appalls me that government grows larger and the tax burden heavier every year while at the same time we accomplish less in improving our quality of life and in enabling our citizens to conduct their ordinary business easily.

To reduce inflation, cut taxes. Give business tax incentives to create jobs. Give homeowners tax incentives for upgrading their property.

Private business can administer state agencies on a contract basis at lower cost to the taxpayer because business is more cost conscious than government.

Education is preventative medicine. Every child should have access to the best possible education. Teachers' salaries should keep pace with inflation. Students and teachers should be evaluated periodically.

Senior Citizens should be able to live in their homes for their life times. To accomplish this, I propose educational scholarships for students to live with Senior Citizens.

Ann
Republican

Ann Sandstrom is energetic, intelligent and respected. Ann works toward real solutions and will involve the voters of this urban district in her decisions. She is the only candidate for this position rated "Outstanding" by the Municipal League.

Full funding of basic education is Ann's first priority. Even after the Seattle Schools, through the courts, forced the legislature to pass a Basic Education Act, the legislature left it unfunded. It is still an empty promise.

Other important issues also need a forceful approach in the State Senate where rural influences now dominate.

These challenges require Ann's civic background: President of the League of Women Voters of Seattle, 1975-77, following five years in other board positions; Citizens Advisory Board, Northwest Energy Policy Project; Co-moderator of Channel 9's election series; Lay member, Professional Standards Review Committee, Washington State Psychological Association; Board of Trustees, Plymouth Church. For Ann's leadership in Plymouth's budget process, she was named "Church Woman of the Year" in 1972.

Ann and Wayne Sandstrom have lived in their home for 22 years and raised three children. Ann has a B.S. degree from Stanford University.

PETERSON
Republican

Warren Peterson was endorsed by The Seattle Times (9/10/78). The nonpartisan Municipal League gave Warren its highest rating of "outstanding" in 1976 and again this year. His opponent has consistently been rated lower.

The 43rd District ranges from Laurelhurst and the University District to Capitol Hill and Madison Park. It takes an understanding, able person like Warren to represent such an economically, socially and politically diverse area. Warren will work hard for schools, neighborhoods, reasonable taxes and responsible budgets. Warren Peterson has the right combination of talent and experience to significantly improve our representation in Olympia.

Jeff DOUTHWAITE
Democrat

Jeff Douthwaite, an associate professor of engineering, has eight years experience as a legislator. Bills he has sponsored, now laws, include the State Risk Management office, State Commission for the Blind, the Sea-Tac Noise Abatement Program, Bicycle Trails funding, and several insurance consumer protection laws. Helped pass Initiative 345, eliminating sales tax on food.

Always rated tops by environmentalists, educators, civil rights protection groups, labor, and consumer protection organizations.

Top priority in 1979 is full funding of basic education by 1980-81 as promised in 1977. Jeff and Mary, his wife, have three children—Charles, 25; John, 24; and Julia, 20.

Drake Harrison
SISLEY
Republican

Every voter has the choice of higher Taxes, Increased Inflation and resultant lower standard of living or electing Drake Harrison Sisley, a fiscal conservative and inflation fighter. He is for economy and efficiency before new taxes, cost-effective state programs, a work ethic for our crowded prisons and a citizen suggestion and award system.

William L. "Bill"
BURNS
Democrat

As President of Montlake Community Club and Central Seattle Community Council Federation, Bill's vigorous work for the elderly, consumer rights, housing rehabilitation, schools without boarded windows, and neighborhood quality brought him well-deserved recognition. In his first term, he serves as Vice-chairman of the Higher Education Committee and Chairman of the Subcommittee on Services and Activities Fees. Bill also sits on the Transportation and State Government Committees and chairs the Housing Subcommittee.

In his second term, Bill will work for full funding of basic education, the creation of a State Housing Finance Agency, and preserving neighborhood quality.

Bob
ELLISON
Libertarian

We are over-regulated and over-taxed. By definition, government is not the solution, it's the problem. What we need is a new direction, a new dawn in politics. For too long, we've been inviting the politicians and bureaucrats to interfere with our lives and affairs.

If elected, I'll support legislation which reduces spending or taxes. I'll advocate decriminalizing victimless crimes. This will permit the courts and prisons to utilize their limited resources more effectively against force and fraud. I'll oppose transfer payments such as welfare, unemployment benefits, and subsidies to business.

Remember, there ain't no such thing as a free lunch.

How to Obtain an Absentee Ballot:

Any registered voter who cannot vote in person may apply directly to his or her county auditor or department of elections for an absentee ballot. Any signed request containing the necessary information will be honored. For your convenience, an application is reproduced below. The addresses of the auditors or departments of election are also listed below. In order to be certain that the voters' application is authentic, the election laws require that the signature on the application be verified by comparison with the signature on the voter's permanent registration record. For this reason, if a husband and wife both wish to vote by absentee ballot, separate, signed requests should be submitted. An additional copy of this application form is printed in the inside front cover of this pamphlet. In order to be counted, an absentee ballot must be voted and postmarked no later than the day of the election. For this reason, sufficient time must be allowed for an exchange of correspondence with the county auditor or department of elections.
