

VOTERS' PAMPHLET

August 19, 2008 Primary

I Vote, I Count

Washington's New Top 2 Primary

Washington has a new primary. You do not have to pick a party. In each race, you may vote for any one of the candidates listed. The two candidates who receive the most votes in the August Primary will advance to the November General Election.

Each candidate for partisan office may state a political party that he or she prefers. A candidate's preference does not imply that the candidate is nominated or endorsed by the party, or that the party approves of or associates with that candidate. Look inside for more about the Top 2 Primary.

Introduction to the 2008 Primary Voters' Pamphlet

It's your choice ... it's your voice.

Congratulations on exercising your privilege and responsibility to take part in Washington's elections – never more important than in this watershed 2008 election year. Our new Top 2 Primary on August 19 will give you maximum choice, allowing you the independence and freedom to “vote for the person, not the party.”

When the courts threw out our cherished “blanket primary,” we immediately proposed a Top 2 system as a way to protect the freedom of citizens to vote for their favorite in each office. This new system was backed by the Legislature and strongly approved by the state voters in 2004 as the People's Choice Initiative, and we are pleased that the U.S. Supreme Court has upheld your rights.

We think you will like this easy, clear way of voting for your favorite candidate. It's as simple as this: You get to choose your favorite candidate for each office on the ballot, without regard to political preference. You are no longer restricted by the old “pick-a-party” system.

The Top 2 vote-getters for each office will advance to the November general election.

One new twist: Our new voter-approved primary no longer nominates a finalist from each major party, but rather sends the two most popular candidates forward for each office. It's a winnowing election to narrow the field. Your candidates have listed the party they prefer, but that doesn't mean the party endorses or affiliates with them. Some candidates prefer major parties, some prefer minor parties and some express no party preference. All have a chance to advance to the November ballot.

We believe you will enjoy this new way of voting. It's simple, easy and follows the longtime Washington tradition of wide-open voting. We invite you to visit www.vote.wa.gov for more information on your Top 2 Primary.

Sincerely,

Help America Vote Act Information

Under Section 402(a)(2) of the Help America Vote Act of 2002 (HAVA), P.L. 107-252 and Washington Administrative Code, Chapter 434-263, any person who believes that a violation of any provision of Title III of HAVA has occurred, is occurring, or is about to occur, may file a complaint with the Office of the Secretary of State. A complaint form can be found at www.secstate.wa.gov/elections/reform_federal.aspx or a letter containing the following information will be considered an acceptable complaint.

A. Person making complaint

Name, address, city, state, ZIP, county, and home and work phone numbers

B. Description of the alleged violation

Please identify:

1. The facts of the alleged violation;
2. Witnesses, if any, and contact information if you have it;
3. Date and time you became aware of the alleged violation;
4. Location where the alleged violation occurred;
5. Who is responsible for the alleged violation; and
6. Other information that you think will be helpful in resolving your complaint.

All complaints must be notarized and filed with the Office of the Secretary of State no later than 30 days after the certification of the election. Send complaint to: Secretary of State, Elections Division, PO Box 40229, Olympia, WA 98504-0229.

Address Confidentiality Program

If you are a victim of domestic violence, sexual assault, trafficking, or stalking who has chosen not to register to vote because you are afraid your perpetrator will track you down through voter registration records, the Office of the Secretary of State has a program that might be able to help you. The Address Confidentiality Program (ACP) works together with community domestic violence and sexual assault programs in an effort to keep crime victims safer. The ACP provides participants with a substitute mailing address that can be used when the victim conducts business with state or local government agencies. The ACP also provides participants with the option of confidential voter registration. All ACP participants must be referred to the program by a local domestic violence or sexual assault advocate who can help develop a comprehensive safety plan.

Need More Information?

For more information about the ACP and the phone number of victim resources in your community, call the ACP toll-free at (800) 822-1065, TDD/TTY at (800) 664-9677 or visit www.secstate.wa.gov/acp.

Announcing Washington State's NEW

Top 2 Primary

Washington State has a new Top 2 Primary!

The Primary on August 19, 2008, will be the first time Washington State voters use the Top 2 Primary.

What is "party preference?"

Each candidate for partisan office may state a political party that he or she prefers.

A candidate's preference does not imply that the candidate is nominated or endorsed by the party, or that the party approves of or associates with that candidate.

Candidates may choose not to state a political party preference.

Sample ballot:

State of Washington Partisan Office
Legislative Position
Juanita Fernandez (Prefers Democratic Party)
Jamal Carver (Prefers Republican Party)
Joe Smith (States No Party Preference)

No more Pick-a-Party

You do not have to pick a party. You may vote for any one of the candidates listed, regardless of the candidate's stated party preference.

How the Top 2 Primary works

In each race, the two candidates who receive the most votes in the August Primary will advance to the November General Election.

NOTE: It is possible that the two candidates advancing to the General Election in a race will prefer the same party.

Why Washington has a Top 2 Primary

In 2004, Initiative 872 proposed a Top 2 Primary system. Washington voters overwhelmingly approved the Top 2 Primary, but in 2005, the United States District Court ruled that it was unconstitutional. The United States Supreme Court overturned the lower court's ruling on March 18, 2008.

Need more information?

For more information on Washington State's Top 2 Primary, call the Office of the Secretary of State Voter Information Hotline at (800) 448-4881, TDD/TTY at (800) 422-8683, or visit www.vote.wa.gov.

Voting in Washington State

Voter Qualifications

To register to vote, you must be:

- A citizen of the United States;
- A legal resident of Washington State;
- At least 18 years old by Election Day; and
- If you have been convicted of a felony in Washington, another state, or in federal court, you lose your right to vote in Washington State until your civil rights are restored.

In Washington State, you do not declare political party membership when you register to vote.

Registration Deadlines

While you may register to vote at any time, keep in mind that there are registration deadlines prior to each election. You must be registered at least 30 days before an election if you register by mail or online. If you are a new voter in Washington State, you may register in person at your county elections department up to 15 days before an election.

The phone number and address of your county elections department are located in the back of this pamphlet.

How to Register to Vote

Forms are available on the Internet at www.vote.wa.gov or at your county elections department, public libraries, schools, and other government offices. You may also request a form through the State Voter Information Hotline. (See Services and Additional Assistance on this page.)

Keep Your Voter Registration Up-to-Date

If your voter registration record does not contain your current name or address, you may not be able to vote. You can use the online or mail-in voter registration form to let your county elections department know when you move or change your name. Update your record online or download a form at www.vote.wa.gov. You must re-register or transfer your registration at least 30 days before the election to be eligible to vote in your new precinct.

Absentee Ballots

Absentee ballot requests must be made to your county elections department (not the Secretary of State). No absentee ballots are issued on Election Day except to a registered voter who is a resident of a health care facility. A ballot may be requested in person, by phone, mail, electronically or by a member of your immediate family as early as 90 days before an election.

You may also apply in writing to automatically receive an absentee ballot before each election. An absentee ballot request form is in this pamphlet. If you have already requested an absentee ballot or have a permanent request for a ballot on file, please do not submit another application.

You will receive your absentee or mail-in ballot approximately 14 days prior to the election. Upon receipt, vote your ballot. Please do not attempt to vote again at your polling location. Absentee and mail-in ballots must be signed and postmarked or delivered to your county elections department on or before Election Day.

Election Dates and Poll Hours

The August Primary is August 19, 2008. Polling place hours in King and Pierce Counties are 7:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m.

Services and Additional Assistance

Contact your county elections department for help with voting your ballot or finding your polling location. The phone number and address of your county elections department is located in the back of this pamphlet.

Say what?

Be smart. [Know your election terms.]

Primary

A process by which a pool of candidates for public office is reduced to the top contenders. In Washington State, the statewide Primary occurs on the third Tuesday of August.

Top 2 Primary

A type of Primary in which the two candidates who receive the most votes in a race advance to the General Election, regardless of the candidates' stated party preferences. This primary system is used in nonpartisan races by local governments in Washington State, but August 19, 2008 will be the state's first time using the Top 2 Primary in partisan races.

Candidate

Any voter registered in Washington State may run as a candidate for public office. Each candidate for partisan office may state a political party that he or she prefers.

Party preference

A candidate's stated preference does not imply that the candidate is nominated or endorsed by the party, or that the party approves of or associates with that candidate.

Nominee

A candidate who has been chosen to represent a party. Nominees will not be differentiated from other candidates on the ballot.

Endorsement

A public declaration of support for a candidate.

Partisan office

A public office for which a candidate may state a preference for a political party and have that preference listed on the ballot.

General Election

The General Election determines which remaining candidates will be voted into office. In the United States, Election Day is the first Tuesday after the first Monday of November. The next General Election will be November 4, 2008.

Public Access to Campaign Spending Reports

Contributions to Candidates and Political Committees

No person may make contributions to a state legislative candidate that exceed $800 per election in which the candidate's name is on the ballot. Contributions to state executive candidates may not exceed $1,600 in the primary and $1,600 in the general election. A person may give unlimited funds to the exempt activities account of a political party, to ballot issue committees, or to other political committees. During the 21 days before the general election, however, a person may contribute no more than $5,000 to a local or judicial office candidate, political party, or other political committee. Contributions from corporations, unions, businesses, associations, and similar organizations are permitted, subject to limits and other restrictions.

Registration and Reporting by Candidates and Political Committees

No later than two weeks after an individual becomes a candidate or a political committee is organized, a campaign finance registration statement must be filed with the Public Disclosure Commission (PDC) and the county elections department. (Committees that form within three weeks of the election must register within three business days.) The candidate or committee treasurer is also required to report periodically the source and amount of campaign contributions over $25 and to list campaign expenditures. The occupation and employer of individuals giving more than $100 to a campaign must also be identified.

These reports may be inspected and copied at the PDC's Olympia office, the county elections department in the county where the candidate lives, and on the Internet (www.pdc.wa.gov). Every candidate and political committee participating in the election must make their campaign books and records available for public inspection, by appointment, during the eight days before the election except Saturdays, Sundays, and legal holidays. Use the contact information provided on the campaign registration to make an appointment.

Independent Campaign Expenditures

Anyone making expenditures totaling $100 or more in support of or in opposition to a state or local candidate or ballot measure (not including contributions made to a candidate or political committee) must file a report with the PDC and their county elections department within five days. Forms are available from the PDC and the county elections department, or can be downloaded from the PDC website. Finally, all political advertising must identify the person paying for the ad and may be required to include other information. Expenditures for independently sponsored political advertisements that cost $1,000 or more and appear during the last three weeks before an election must be reported to the PDC within 24 hours of when the ad is first presented to the public. Sponsors of electioneering communications must electronically report expenditures within 24 hours of the communication being presented to the public. More information about independent ads and electioneering communications is available from the PDC.

Federal Campaigns

Contributions to U.S. Senate and House of Representatives candidates are regulated by federal law. An individual may contribute a maximum of $2,300 in the primary and $2,300 in the general election to each candidate for U.S. Senator and U.S. Representative. Corporations and unions are prohibited from contributing from their general treasury funds to federal campaigns. Contributions may be made from separate segregated funds (also called political action committees or PACs). Copies of the federal campaign finance reports are available from the Federal Election Commission (FEC).

Need More Information?

Contact the Public Disclosure Commission at 711 Capitol Way, Room 206, PO Box 40908, Olympia, WA 98504-0908, or by phone (360) 753-1111, email pdc@pdc.wa.gov, or www.pdc.wa.gov. For federal campaigns, contact the Federal Election Commission by phone at (202) 694-1100, toll-free (800) 424-9530, TDD/TTY (202) 219-3336, or visit www.fec.gov.

Do you know what they do?

Voters are entrusted to elect candidates into many offices, perhaps without always knowing the qualifications and full responsibility of an office. Following are the descriptions for some of the offices appearing on your ballot.

U.S. Congressional

Representative

The U.S. Constitution prescribes that a Representative must be at least 25 years of age, have been a citizen of the United States for seven years, and, when elected, be a resident of the State from which he or she is chosen. A Representative's term of office is two years; the total membership of the House is elected in even-numbered years.

The Constitution assigns the Senate and House equal responsibility for declaring war, maintaining the armed forces, assessing taxes, borrowing money, minting currency, regulating commerce, and making all laws necessary for the operation of the government.

State Executive Offices

Governor

The Governor is the chief executive officer of the state, elected to serve a four-year term. The Governor's executive branch responsibilities include appointing the heads of departments, agencies, and institutions. The Governor's legislative responsibilities include reporting to the Legislature annually on affairs of the state and submitting a budget recommendation. The Governor may veto legislation passed by the Legislature.

The office was created by Article III, Section 2, of the Washington Constitution. The Governor's powers and duties are outlined in Section 5-13 of the Constitution and RCW 43.06.

Lieutenant Governor

The Lieutenant Governor is elected independently of the Governor and holds office for four years. The Lieutenant Governor acts as Governor if the Governor is unable to perform his/her official duties, and is the presiding officer of the State Senate.

The Lieutenant Governor is elected to a four-year term. The office was created by Article III, Section 16 of the State Constitution.

Secretary of State

The Secretary of State is the state's chief elections officer, chief corporation officer, supervises the State Archives, and oversees the State Library. Primary functions include supervising state elections and certifying election results; filing and verifying initiatives and referendums; publishing the state voters' pamphlet; registering and licensing corporations, limited partnerships and trademarks; registering charitable organizations; collecting and preserving historical records of the state; administering the state's Address Confidentiality Program; and filing official acts of the Legislature and Governor.

The Secretary of State is elected to a four-year term. The office was created by Article III, Section 17 of the State Constitution. The duties are outlined in RCW 43.07.

State Treasurer

As the state's fiscal officer, the State Treasurer's principal duties are to manage and disperse all funds and accounts; be responsible for the safekeeping and interest on all state investments; accounting for and making payments of interest and principal on all state bonded indebtedness and maintaining a statewide revenue collection system for the purpose of expediting the deposit of state funds into the Treasury.

The State Treasurer is elected to a four-year term. The office was created by Article III, Section 19 of the State Constitution. The duties are outlined in RCW 43.08.

State Auditor

Working with more than 2,600 state and local governments, the State Auditor's Office conducts independent financial, accountability, and performance audits of all Washington governments. The State Auditor conducts investigations of state employee whistleblower assertions about state agencies and also investigates reports of fraud, waste, and abuse received through its citizen hotline. Audit and investigation results are documented and reported to governments and the public.

The State Auditor is elected to a term of four years. The office was created by Article III, Section 20 of the State Constitution. The duties are outlined in RCW 43.09 and 43.88.160.

Attorney General

The Attorney General serves as legal counsel to the Governor, members of the Legislature, state officials, and more than 230 state agencies, boards and commissions, colleges and universities. The office also represents the various administrative agencies and schools in court or administrative hearings. The Office of the Attorney General enforces consumer protection statutes and serves the public directly by providing information on consumer rights and fraudulent business practices.

The Attorney General is elected to office for a four-year term. The office was created pursuant to Article III, Section 21 of the Washington State Constitution. The duties are outlined in RCW 43.10.

Superintendent of Public Instruction

As head of the state educational agency and chief executive officer of the State Board of Education, the Superintendent is responsible for the administration of the state kindergarten through twelfth grade education program. The regulatory duties of the office include certification of teaching personnel, approval and accreditation of programs, and apportionment of state and local funds. The Superintendent also provides assistance to school districts' school improvement area; in statistical analysis, accounting, management, assessment, and curriculum development.

The Superintendent is elected to a four-year term of office. The office was created pursuant to Article III, Section 22 of the Washington State Constitution. The duties are outlined in RCW 28A.300.

Commissioner of Public Lands

The Commissioner of Public Lands is the head of the Department of Natural Resources, overseeing the management of 5 million acres of forest, agricultural, range, tidal, and shore lands of the state. Subject to proprietary policies established by the Board of Natural Resources, the Commissioner is responsible for the exercise of all duties and functions of the department.

The Commissioner is elected to a four-year term of office. The office was created pursuant to Article III, Section 23 of the Washington State Constitution. The duties are outlined in RCW 43.12 and RCW 43.30.

Insurance Commissioner

The Office of the Insurance Commissioner regulates insurance companies doing business in Washington, licenses agents and brokers, reviews policies and rates, examines the operations and finances of insurers, and handles inquiries and complaints from the public.

The Insurance Commissioner is elected to a four-year term of office. The office was created by the Legislature and the duties are listed in RCW 48.02.060 and 48.43.

Legislative Offices

State Senator

The State Constitution prescribes that a Senator must be a citizen of the United States and a qualified voter in the legislative district from which he or she was chosen. A Senator's term of office is four years; the Senate is made up of 49 members, one from each legislative district in the state. One-half of the membership of the Senate is elected at the General Election held in November of each even-numbered year.

During legislative sessions, the Legislature is called upon to: enact or reject legislation affecting public policy in the state; provide for the levy and collection of taxes and other revenue to support state government and assist local government; and appropriate funds for these purposes.

State Representative

The State Constitution prescribes that a Representative must be a citizen of the United States and a qualified voter in the legislative district from which he or she was chosen. A Representative's term of office is two years; the House is made up of 98 members, two from each legislative district in the state. The total membership of the House is elected at the General Election held in November of each even-numbered year.

During legislative sessions, the Legislature is called upon to: enact or reject legislation affecting public policy in the state; provide for the levy and collection of taxes and other revenue to support state government and assist local government; and appropriate funds for these purposes.

Biographical Information

Current Occupation/Employer: I am a self-employed lawyer engaged in the general practice of law.

Education: I am a 1980 Graduate from the University of Washington with a BA in economics. In 1983, I received my law degree from the University of Washington School of Law. I have been a member of the Washington State Bar Association since 1983.

Family: I have been married for 24 years to Elice Cloud. We have three children. I have lived in Washington all my life.

Significant Career Experience: I was a Kitsap County Deputy Prosecuting Attorney from 1984 to 1986. Since 1987, I have been a lawyer in private practice.

Candidate Statement

Our government would serve the people better if it were smaller and more efficient. Less should be demanded of the government and taxes should be lowered.

The economy would reward us more if we were allowed to keep more of what we earn. Too often government planning of the economy does more harm than good. Thus, our economy needs less taxation and regulation. Any attempt to mandate the price of any good or service will result in rationing. Thus, I favor free market solutions over government planning.

In order for our private economy to flourish we must reduce the wartime inflation. That can only be accomplished if we set firm and achievable goals for spending less money on overseas military expenses. Although freedom must be defended it must be done so in a manner which preserves freedom in our country and does not dissipate our military strength and economic vitality. Attempts to impose our beliefs upon foreign nations are a waste of time and, ultimately, a waste of money.

The frequent economic ups and downs we suffer from are a direct result of the government interfering with our economy. The interference is always explained as a necessary good, but the result is rarely good for any but the few who directly benefit. The rest of us get the happy slogans while the money goes elsewhere. Too often, pity is used as a tool by those cynically seeking special treatment and monetary gain.

With lower taxes, less government expenditures and fewer foreign military expenses, our economy can move forward quickly. The big government solutions of the past merely increase the size of the government at the expense of individual freedom. This, in turn, slows normal economic progress.

A vote for me is a vote for individual freedom and generational change.

Current Occupation/Employer: Member of Congress, Representing Washington's 6th Congressional District

Education: Graduate of the University of Washington Law School, B.A., University of Washington

Elected Experience: U.S. Representative from Washington's 6th Congressional District, 1977 to present

Family: Married to Suzie Callison Dicks, two sons (David and Ryan), one grandson

Candidate Statement

Norm Dicks has built a well-deserved reputation as a seasoned and thoughtful lawmaker who's never forgotten where he's from and what he stands for. And as his record clearly demonstrates, Norm Dicks delivers.

Whether you reside in Tacoma, Bremerton, or in one of the many communities along the Olympic Peninsula, the legacy of his leadership is evident.

Revitalized business districts, road and highway improvements, safe and affordable housing, and an unwavering commitment to restore the health of Puget Sound, Hood Canal, and our threatened salmon runs offer further evidence that Norm is a leader we can trust and count on.

Congressman Dicks, the son of a Bremerton Shipyard worker, has never lost sight of the fact that good jobs support healthy families. He's been a consistent and tireless advocate for economic development programs that encourage innovation and economic growth.

Norm also understands that the next generation must be prepared for the challenges that lie ahead. Twenty-first century jobs require twenty-first century skills. That's why Congressman Dicks continues to work for the educational opportunities we need to remain competitive in the global marketplace.

We can rely on Norm Dicks as our representative in Congress to put his experience to work for us in the ongoing effort to ensure that our state's precious natural heritage and unique resources are protected and managed—not for temporary short-term gain, but with the future in mind.

Norm is committed to bringing our troops home from Iraq and allowing the Iraqis to provide for the safety and security of their own people. And Norm recognizes the importance of ensuring that our nation's service members and their families are properly equipped and adequately cared for both during and after their service to America.

Norm Dicks, our voice in Congress, would appreciate your continued support.

Candidate Statement

My name's Paul Richmond. I was raised to believe when you see something wrong, you've an obligation to speak up. In the twenty years I've made the Northwest my home I've worked to do this. I've done this as a reporter, lawyer, teacher and community activist. I've helped to end a program that had the National Guard accompanying police on drug raids, helped to defeat $1.3 billion dollar pork barrel project at the ballot, and helped stop clear cutting in a major watershed.

I'm running for office because while the incumbent has brought dollars to the region, being a member of Congress is more than dollars. Too often he's failed to take a stand on votes that mattered:

- The incumbent voted to get us into the Iraq War in 2003. And in May 2008 he broke with the majority of Democrats and voted to authorize $165 billion to continue funding this illegal war, with no strings attached. That's not listening to the citizens. That's not supporting the troops.

- The incumbent voted for the PATRIOT Act and other laws that attack our Constitutional Rights. He voted for the military Commissions Act that allows indefinite detention. He voted for the 2007 Defense Authorization Act that allows the military to be used against the domestic population for the first time in 130 years. He co-sponsored a Homegrown Terrorism Act where bureaucrats will study which ideologies should be illegal. That's not protecting our rights.

- The incumbent supported "free trade" agreements like CAFTA, NAFTA and GATT. These eliminate worker, consumer and environmental protections. Instead they favor foreign corporations.

We need better education, better health care, and sustainable jobs. We need open government and fair elections. I will fight for all of these.

Vote for Paul Richmond (D) so we can do better.

Candidate Statement

Gary Murrell has fought his whole life to build a more equitable and just American society, to bring to fulfillment the promise of Abraham Lincoln to secure a government of the people, by the people and for the people. As a Vietnam-era vet opposed to war, as a union leader and champion of civil liberties Gary has consistently raised his voice for the rights of the people.

At this crucial moment in our history, Gary is our choice for change in the 6th District. We must end the disastrous war in Iraq, close military bases around the world, bring all of our troops home. We must end the empire. Never again should we send military forces overseas without a Congressional declaration of war. We must establish economic justice so the rich stop feeding off the rest of us. We must end the corruption in Washington that allows members of Congress to earmark federal money for their favored campaign contributors. We must end lobbyist bribery. We must end torture as the policy of the United States. We must restore habeas corpus, restore the power of Congress over war making, restore our Bill of Rights, restore our republic.

Voters have a real opportunity to send a message to the two dominant, corporate-financed parties by voting for Gary. Progressives, fed up with Democratic escalation of the Iraq war, must show that they are capable of not voting for pro-war Democrats. Republicans, eager to remove the current member of Congress, should not waste their vote but vote for Gary to show that they are fed up with the Bush policies of war, torture, high oil prices and economic chaos. Independents, by voting for Gary, have the best opportunity in years to change the corrupt, dead-end policies of both major parties.

Biographical Information

Current Occupation/Employer: Commercial Real Estate

Education: B.A., Business Management, Seattle University

Elected Experience: Washington State Senate, 1996-2003

Family: Dino Rossi, the youngest of seven children raised by a Seattle public schoolteacher and a beautician with Italian, Irish and Tlingit Alaskan Native heritage, grew up in Mountlake Terrace.

Dino and his wife Terry now live in Sammamish with their four children.

Significant Career Experience: In 2003, as Chair of the Senate Ways & Means Committee, he built a bipartisan coalition to balance the largest budget deficit in state history without raising taxes while still protecting the poor and vulnerable. He was the GOP nominee for Governor in 2004.

Candidate Statement

Dino Rossi – A governor who will get things done...for a change.

Governors in other states are controlling spending - but not here. While we tighten our belts, state government spends more money and faces a growing $2.5 billion deficit. The incumbent's only answer: more tax increases.

Dino Rossi is a businessman. He'll watch our tax dollars like a hawk and cut waste, because the answer to Washington's challenges is not always to spend more tax money, but to spend our money wisely.

Washingtonians must be safe. The state government does not know the location of over 1300 convicted sex offenders who are loose in our cities and neighborhoods. Dino will end early release for violent offenders from prison. Dino will require the close and constant monitoring of sex offenders who have served their sentence.

Other Governors are reforming education and helping prepare students for global competition. More money is spent in education each year here, but is it spent effectively to give our children what they need to be competitive in life? Dino Rossi will replace the WASL with America's best standardized test and require students to pass a fair and rigorous test. The incumbent still supports the failed WASL test with no math and science requirement.

Other states are making progress fixing traffic congestion. Dino Rossi has a specific plan to fix nine major traffic chokepoints without new taxes and complete transportation projects on time. Here, the incumbent raised gas taxes to the nation's highest but commute times just get longer, and many critical transportation projects are still being studied by "blue ribbon" committees on a drawing board.

Spending more yet getting less is no way to run a family budget, a business or a state government.

Let's fix some problems...elect Dino Rossi.

Fact: (Then) U.S. Attorney John McKay, Assistant State Attorney General Jeffrey Even and Secretary of State Sam Reed manipulated the 2004 statewide elections.

Candidate Statement

I believe the number one issue in the 2008 Governor election should be the illegal and unethical election practices used by former Washington State Attorney General/current Washington State Governor Christine "The Cover-Up Queen" Gregoire.

Fact: Former Washington State Attorney General/current Washington State Governor Christine "The Cover-Up Queen" Gregoire manipulates/rigs elections.

How?

Fact: One way is to illegally and/or unethically manipulate/rig the information that is supposed to be made available to the voters.

How?

Fact: One way is to spend public dollars to pay state employees to keep quiet about scandals that could damage Christine "The Cover-Up Queen" Gregoire's political machine. (Basically, brokering "whistle-blower silence for taxpayer cash" deals.)

The Brian Ebersole Story

Fact: Brian Ebersole lived in Tacoma.

Fact: On November 2, 1982, Ebersole (Democrat) was elected to the Washington State legislature.

Fact: When Ebersole was in the legislature in the early 90's, he was sued by state employees who stated Ebersole had coerced them into illegally campaigning for him on taxpayer time.

Fact: (Then) Washington State Attorney General Christine "The Cover-Up Queen" Gregoire (Democrat) "investigated" that scandal by paying the employees almost $1 million in taxpayer money to settle the cases and then Gregoire tried to keep the court records sealed from the public.

Current Occupation/Employer: Governor, Washington State

Education: J.D., Gonzaga University, 1977; B.A., University of Washington, 1969

Elected Experience: Attorney General, 1992-2004

Family: My husband Mike is my biggest supporter and a great father to our daughters, Courtney and Michelle.

Significant Career Experience: I'm proud to serve as your Governor. Together, we've gotten results for Washingtonians by protecting our communities, providing health care for adults and children, investing in education, creating jobs and improving our environment and quality of life. As Attorney General, I successfully fought to clean up Hanford, stop identity thieves, and hold tobacco companies accountable.

Candidate Statement

In my four years as your Governor, we've tackled tough challenges head-on and produced results for people in every corner of our state.

Strengthening Our Economy

When I took office we had a 2.2 billion dollar deficit and one of the highest unemployment rates in the country. Since then we have balanced the budget, cut red tape for small businesses, created over 200,000 new jobs, and now have the third fastest growing economy in the nation.

Protecting Our Children

Faced with overcrowded prisons, we charted a new direction to protect our families. We built 4,000 new prison beds, required electronic ankle bracelets and increased jail sentences for sex offenders, and started a DNA registry for sex crimes.

When I took office the state was threatening to slash healthcare from 46,000 low-income children. Cutting kids off healthcare is morally wrong. We stopped those cuts and instead, expanded healthcare coverage to 84,000 additional children.

We also restored funding for teachers' salaries and to lower class size, and passed the strictest toy safety standards in the country to protect our kids against dangerous chemicals.

Creating a Cleaner Future

Washington is leading the country in efforts to fight global warming. We're one of the largest producers of renewable energy in a growing "green" economy, and we created the Puget Sound Partnership to clean up the Sound for future generations.

As we look to the future, challenges lie ahead, including those posed by failed national economic policies. But these past four years have proven we're not afraid of tough challenges.

I ask for your support this primary election so we can continue to set the bar high for the quality of life in our state, meet these challenges head-on, and produce real results that improve the lives of every community and every family in Washington.

Candidate Statement

Our Climate Crisis demands profound cultural change now. As in childbirth, pain will attend this change. We are birthing ourselves into a world radically different from what middle-class Industrial World citizens have known for a century.

We have badly abused our Earth. Now, the Earth is changing in non-linear ways. We cannot avoid this change. Our choice is to change voluntarily, or be compelled by our Earth to change.

Those leaders who sell the lethal notion that we can 'prosper' and avoid painful Climate Crisis change are false leaders. Reject them.

Our governor must convene a Climate Emergency session of the legislature now to enact emergency World War II-type laws:

- Divert Boeing to manufacture of solar and wind power equipment.
- Vastly increase public transport. Poor ride free.
- Outlaw Single Occupancy Vehicles, except where no public transport exists.

- Impose aggressive, corporate carbon taxes.
- Assess steep, progressive individual carbon taxes. Poor exempted.
- Establish industry, regional and governmental carbon caps.
- Outlaw carbon trading.
- Begin personal carbon rationing.
- Channel carbon tax funds to poor, offsetting high food, housing and transportation costs.
- Carbon taxes fund global Rainforest Protection.
- Demand full withdrawal from Iraq. Divert funds to climate programs.
- Outlaw coal fired power plants.
- Outlaw crop based biofuels production and use.
- Provide energy retro-fit for all buildings.
- Adopt new Land Use Law. Require density. Stop sprawl.
- Protect Washington trees as 'common good,' critically aiding our climate.

I have been a small business owner and corporate officer.

Candidate Statement

My goal is to empower the people to dictate to our government their needs and how those needs are to be addressed. That is what a democracy is about. Instead, I see the will of the people being neglected and government dictating to them. I believe in a less intrusive and smaller government.

I have seen abuses of property, parental, and personal rights by our government. There is a lack of financial accountability and mismanagement of government programs without any consequences for failures. Special interest groups own our government and it is time for the people to take back their rights to govern themselves.

We need to rid ourselves of unfair and regressive taxes that only affect a segment of our society. I want to reform public and higher education and make it available to everyone at any time or place without cost. We need to combat pollution and clean up our environment. I want to stimulate our economy and be pro-business. We need to insure that all our citizens have affordable housing, food, power, and health care. We need to develop an emergency plan for major disasters that could be used in the event that a large number of our population is affected.

There is not room to address every issue here but, I hope you will go to my campaign website for more information and clarification before you vote. Please become an informed voter and do not be swayed by high dollar promotional schemes that are full of empty rhetoric and half-truths. You are the employer and we candidates need to work for you. After my father's lung cancer death, I litigated medical malpractice and tobacco lawsuits in Seattle and gave a public talk to doctors on "how to argue cancer alternative therapies in the courtroom."

Candidate Statement

Because I feel Washington State should be leading the Nation in promoting a Spiritual Civilization based on holistic medicine, alternative energy, affordable housing, relevant education, a dynamic economy, bio-diversity, world development and meaningful access to justice, I respectfully propose my "FUNDAMENTAL FREEDOMS" PLAN OF ACTION.

FREEDOM FROM DISEASES: Thanks to public health (including comprehensive universal pro-active health care) and therapeutic freedoms legislation, billions of dollars could be saved while all would have meaningful access to physical, mental and spiritual wellbeing.

FREEDOM FROM POLLUTION, WASTE AND WARS: With a firm commitment to develop clean, renewable energies (solar, wind, hydrogen, tidal, geothermal), painful oil wars would be less justifiable. With the resources saved, peace and prosperity would be better constructed.

FREEDOM FROM EXCESSIVE MORTGAGES, DEBTS AND HOMELESSNESS: Thanks to compassionate solidarity and eco-construction technology (strawbale, wood, clay), a sound family house can be built for under 45,000 dollars.

FREEDOM FROM IGNORANCE, ALIENATION AND RECESSION: With stronger schools and universities, a dynamic modern economy based on the internet revolution, science, business, corporate intelligence, tax reform, coupled with sustainable communities, the elderly, youth and working force would better fulfill their dreams and basic needs.

FREEDOM FROM HUNGER, DESERTS AND WORLD MISERY: Thanks to ethical trade, the doubling of exports, tree planting, vineyards, organic agriculture, health restaurants and the distribution of "superfoods" (including but not limited to amazing dopamine-producing raw vegan chocolate mousses), we would find solutions to world hunger and deserts would flower.

FREEDOM FROM INJUSTICE AND TYRANNY. With massive restructuring and financing of our legal system; the building of human rights and duties "enlightenment" centers in each town; the enactment of public expense for modest-income parties who have non-frivolous civil and administrative cases, including for electoral candidates, Washingtonians would be empowered and this State would become a lighthouse for the International Community.

Significant Career Experience: Backed by more than 12 years of leadership experience, I exemplify the traits of a leader with a thorough understanding of the needs, concerns, challenges and strategies necessary to thrive as an entrepreneur and citizen in the Evergreen State.

Candidate Statement

I am running for public office because I believe in a better Washington. For too many years the two party system in this state has corrupted the ideals of our democracy with conflicted party and special interest loyalties. The candidates have lost sight of the voters that elect them and empower them to lead on behalf of the people.

Classic party politics have stalled any movement on issues that matter to the average Washingtonian. Transportation, Education, and the Environment have suffered over the past four years. Both parties have proposed plans which do not solve problems but stall resolutions. It is time for government to become innovative. Together, we must solve the problems that exist today so we, as a community and state, can move forward. The talent and resources in this state position us well to become a global leader in the three above-mentioned areas. We need a leader who will leverage our current strengths and efficiencies to address our issues without creating more bureaucracy through the party system.

Fair taxes are one key to making the system work.

Our roads and mass transit have not kept pace with the growth of the state. Our education system has failed to meet the expectations of parents and our community. Our environment is steadily declining with the strain of increasing population. The state is losing its soul.

We must unite, innovate, and become who we all know we can be. We can be a world-class leader in the issues that we as Washingtonians care about.

It is time to move the bar to par excellence. We collectively have the knowledge and capital to accomplish great things. We just need leadership that will take us there without the influences of special interest money or party platforms.

Candidate Statement

Honesty, Ethics and integrity, these values have been missing in government far too long and it's time to make a change!

There are many issues that our state government must address during the governor's next term. Washington voters must decide whether they should bring back to Olympia those candidates and incumbents who claim their solutions to these issues will fix the problems. The sad truth is that they have spent their careers in government and are an integral part of the problem themselves.

The people of Washington are my number one priority and I pledge that your voice will be heard and acted upon while I am your Governor. I will be the Governor for all Washingtonians. The time for you to have a real voice in Olympia is now.

I am an outspoken critic of waste and fraud in government and work tirelessly to remind our state government that they work for the people of Washington. For too long our government in Olympia has felt they do not have to listen to the people. How many times did we vote for $30.00 license tabs before we were finally heard? Do we remember that we voted to limit spending in our government? Yet the legislature, with the blessing of the governor, has continually found ways to circumvent that law.

I am also passionate about the children of our state. I am appalled by the growing trend of acceptance from the media regarding sexual abuse of our school children by members of the educational profession. The children of Washington are the lifeblood of the future. They are the Governors, Legislators, Judges and Presidents of tomorrow and we must do everything in our power to protect our children.

I pledge to all Washingtonians that I will always work for you. Vote!

I am on a mission to assert Washington State leadership for other States joining for positive changes.

If elected Governor I will do or promote the following with help from legal experts.

1. WITHDRAW WASHINGTON NATIONAL GUARD FROM IRAQ IMMEDIATELY. The unfair Iraqi occupation was engineered by New Conservative for Israel. Request for Freedom Of Information Act November 14, 2005 with their answer November 21, 2005 control number COPS2006004 is still pending to prove evidence.

2. AMEND CONSTITUTION, article 1, section 8, paragraph 11, so War Power Act be delegated to States Legislators not Congress.

3. AMEND CONSTITUTION, article 1, section 8, paragraph 3, so individual States can compete for overseas businesses without interference from Federal Government. I will lead trade mission to Cuba, Venezuela, Iran, Syria etc.

4. PROMOTE ONE STATE SOLUTION FOR PALESTINIAN-ARAB ISRAELI CONFLICT, so Jews, Christians and Muslims can live in Secular State like ours.

Other issues are in my platform.

Finally I would like to sound the alarm, that AIPAC and other Jewish Zionist Lobbies who represent less than 2% of American People are using the United States through their mighty power in the News Media, Financial Institutions, Hollywood and Entertainment Industry, Both Political Parties, Congress and the White House as Proxy to wage war against any country perceived to be threat to Israel, like in Iraq. This will lead us into conflicts for generations with Arab and Muslim World. This has got to stop!

Today is a start in an effort to take back our government and return it to the people. A time to put a stop to the government's waste of THE PEOPLES tax dollars and put our focus back on education, health care, alternative energy and the environment. A time to put a stop to the injustice to families in this state by holding public officials accountable for the job the people pay them to do.

TIME FOR TALK IS OVER; IT IS TIME TO TAKE ACTION.

What about constitutional issues? We need to protect those rights or your elected official will continue to take them away. It is time to put into office a leader that is not afraid to take the necessary action to do what is right for the people.

A leader that is a true patriot that stands by the UNITED STATES CONSTITUTION and the men and women who fight and die defending it.

Have we forgotten our Pledge of Allegiance? "Indivisible, with Liberty and Justice for all." Have we forgotten "by the people for the people?"

Have we forgotten the importance of the CONSTITUTION, THE BILL OF RIGHTS and what they stand for? Families are the cornerstone of the strength of this country.

My name is James White and I will fight for the people of this great state. I will defend the CONSTITUTIONAL FREEDOMS that we are guaranteed. When elected I will do everything in my power to eliminate the waste of your tax dollars.

Candidate Statement

As a member of the Constitution Party, I believe in placing sound governing principles ahead of politics, pragmatism, and the popularity contest that electioneering has devolved into.

Contrary to what some would have us believe, government is not an amoral entity. Every person elected to office will govern according to the influence of their personal moral values and spiritual beliefs, therefore, it is merely a question of whose values will be imposed.

I acknowledge that our rights come from God and are not dispensed by government. The proper function of government is to safeguard those rights, not regulate them.

I support small, unintrusive government, strictly limited to the role delegated to it by the Washington State and US Constitutions. All decisions made while in office will be based on these documents and Biblically prescribed moral values designed to protect the fabric of our society.

Though some may bristle at the thought of bringing together Christian belief and affairs of civil government, I firmly believe, as did the Rev. Charles G. Finney, that "God will bless or curse this nation (and our state) according to the course Christians take in politics."

It is time to take a stand.

Significant Career Experience: Former Department of Social and Health Services employee for 23 years

Candidate Statement

I would like to thank the 1,193,000 Washingtonians who voted for me in the 2004 General Election. Your support for the Republican ideals I stand for won us the Primary nomination against two other fine opponents. Last time you voted for me, I was campaigning on a "real world" jobs creation platform; and in our State, jobs were created. But in your case, did you personally find a job, or better job, than the one you hopefully had 4 years ago?

With Dino Rossi and myself back on the ballot again, we have a chance to correct the mistakes made since that November Election day, four years ago.

Having served in the United States Navy from 1968 to 1972, I have resided in Grays Harbor and Thurston counties during the past 36 years, since my honorable discharge.

I was with the Department of Social and Health Services for 23 years.

Since my DSHS departure 6½ years ago, I have been a Small Business owner, Entrepreneur and private investor.

This election, I am the only candidate with a plan to "End Homelessness (in Washington State) NOW!"

Go to www.EndHomelessnessNow.info for details and VOTE JIM WIEST your next Lt. Governor.

Military and Overseas Voters

Election officials in Washington State work hard to ensure that all military and overseas voters receive their ballots in time to be returned and counted.

In order to accomplish this, county elections departments have added services such as:

- Faxed ballots;
- Emailed ballots;
- Ballots by mail; and
- Priority mail or other delivery services.

Military and other Washington State voters living overseas may request a ballot by contacting their county elections department, listed in the back of this pamphlet, or by completing the Federal Post Card Application at www.fvap.gov.

Biographical Information

Current Occupation/Employer: Secretary of State since 2001.

Education: Attended Washington State University and earned a Bachelor's Degree in Social Studies and Master's Degree in Political Science.

Elected Experience: Two terms as Secretary of State, and five terms as Thurston County Auditor.

Family: Sam and Margie have been married for more than 40 years and have two children and two grandchildren. Secretary Reed, whose family lived in Washington in territorial days, grew up in Wenatchee. His family moved to Spokane where he graduated from Lewis and Clark High School.

Significant Career Experience: Served as Assistant Secretary of State. Served as Director of the Governor's Urban Affairs and Constitutional Reform Commissions.

Candidate Statement

Since becoming Secretary of State, Sam Reed has worked diligently to strengthen electoral integrity, make government more accessible, and preserve our heritage.

Throughout his eight years in office, Sam led major election reforms: Consolidating 39 separate county registration systems into one statewide database to remove duplicate voters, felons, and deceased voters; moving the primary to August so those overseas can receive their ballots in a timely manner; ending ballot enhancements; and auditing county election departments.

Sam kept fighting for your right to vote without being restricted to a party, and was ultimately supported by the U.S. Supreme Court.

Thanks to Sam, you can now go online to register to vote, start a business, or research your family genealogy. He saved and enhanced Washington's oldest institution, the State Library, and he started the nation's first state digital archive.

"We have more work to do to restore trust and confidence in the elections process and preserve our history. In the next four years I pledge to bring a new level of transparency and access to state government, and I will continue to lead the fight for fair and accurate elections while protecting voter rights and privacy."

Candidate Statement

Top 2

The recently reinstated Top 2 Primary, now, ensures our right to vote for ANY candidate in primaries. Speaking as chairman of a minor party, this is, basically, an egalitarian system, although, the election system, generally, needs reforming.

Initiatives

Powerful forces in the state are doing everything they can to overturn "Top 2" and to make the Initiative system a toothless tiger. They have been thwarted, thus far, thankfully. I will continue to defend "Top 2" and will fight against any attempt to make initiatives harder to get on the ballot or to collect signatures.

The Ballot

Surely, the same powerful forces will use this election to bring about their goals. I am confident, however, that voters will be able to tell which candidates support "Top 2" and Initiatives and which do not.

Democracy

There's no democracy if the vote is not counted correctly. I would not endorse machines from controversial manufacturers, nor machines that cannot be audited through a paper trail. Random, professional checks and whistleblowers are essential, as well as a moratorium on the complete control of elections by major parties.

Family: I have one son, a junior in high school, who is an Eagle Scout.

Candidate Statement

New technologies continue to make administering elections and public records more complex. It is time for a technology expert, not a lifelong bureaucrat, to lead this office at this time.

My name is Jason Osgood. I am the right person for this job.

Few citizens realize the integrity of our elections, our very democracy, is under siege.

Sloppy counting, and the certification of voting machines that cannot be relied upon for accuracy, affects all candidates and undermines voter confidence.

Voters in Ohio and Florida have seen outrageous violations of voting rights, and the incumbent has allowed the same disgraced machines and procedures to be used here in Washington.

He has allowed cronies to sell software to counties that identifies each voter's ballot with unique barcodes.

Recurring election problems have eroded voter confidence in the system.

As your Secretary of State, I will stop the damage, and restore confidence in our voting systems.

My platform is simple and clear: 1. Ensure the accurate public vote count; 2. Protect voter access and privacy; 3. Actively promote open government.

This year, voting for me presents a credible alternative to the status quo, a choice of a public servant who will protect our democracy.

Candidate Statement

All Washingtonians may not be aware that the 2004 General Election had numerous serious, illegal election-related violations. This is egregious. You may read these enumerated online in the February 2005 Evergreen Freedom Foundation Report. Virtually no procedures were in place to verify whether persons who voted were actually eligible to vote, impacting all candidates and parties.

As a Washington citizen, I am extremely concerned that ballots across the state be handled uniformly; that procedures are in place to protect our election system from possible fraud; that we ensure that all votes are tallied. I propose we institute Indiana's very successful Photo ID law immediately.

It is incumbent on any and all citizens willingly to step up to offer their services where they feel they can work for the benefit of their fellow citizens, whatever their party affiliation. As a member of the Constitution Party—the party of our founding fathers and the third largest party in the nation—I offer my many years' experience to serve as your Secretary of State. I promise to follow all basic election laws in a fair and full vote tally of lawfully cast ballots, ending election fiasco!

I will greatly appreciate your vote.

Current Occupation/Employer: Assistant State Treasurer

Education: Washington State University, BA in Social Sciences, magna cum laude.

Family: Married to Sue Martin. Three adult children.

Significant Career Experience: Allan Martin served as Chelan County Treasurer 1993 – 1998. As Deputy State Treasurer for Debt Management, 1999 to 2007, he implemented two successful programs that lower borrowing costs for Washington communities, oversaw the issuance of $13 billion in bonds and served as Secretary to the State Finance Committee. Since 1999 he has served on the Washington State Housing Finance Commission. His finance career began as a community banker working with first-time homebuyer programs and builder loans.

Candidate Statement

As your current Assistant State Treasurer – the Treasurer’s top deputy – I’m honored to receive bipartisan support for State Treasurer. Retiring State Treasurer Mike Murphy, a Democrat, says “I enthusiastically endorse Allan Martin.” Other bipartisan endorsements include 40 current and former County Treasurers – Republicans and Democrats – from across the state. These treasurers know that this office – one of the largest banking operations in our state – is too important to sacrifice professional management for partisan politics or on-the-job training.

My experience running the daily operation of the office demonstrates my proven ability to manage and invest your tax dollars prudently and wisely. My professional experience is well balanced – in public office and private industry, and with experience both in Olympia and the local level. I worked in community banking prior to being elected Chelan County Treasurer in 1993. Since joining the State Treasurer in 1998, I implemented innovative and successful programs to provide low-cost borrowing for school districts and local governments. Being State Treasurer is about integrity, expecting excellence, and delivering it.

My wife Sue and I, both lifelong Washingtonians, are now asking for the best endorsement of all: your vote for Allan Martin for State Treasurer. Thank you.

Candidate Statement

The only candidate with experience in private, public, and academic sectors, State Representative Jim McIntire brings 30 years of hands-on financial leadership to the office of State Treasurer.

The Right Experience: Chair of the Washington Economic and Revenue Forecast Council, McIntire demands that economic forecasts are non-partisan and accurate.

As House Finance Committee Chair, McIntire won audits of tax breaks, and sponsored voter-approved “Rainy Day” fund legislation.

A private-sector economist, McIntire helps businesses and investors make smart choices.

McIntire teaches economics and government to graduate students in public administration at the UW.

The Right Values: The Treasurer’s role is more than spreadsheets and bond ratings—it’s about protecting taxpayers and building equity with sound, long term investments.

Jim McIntire has the best skills and relationships to work with the Governor, legislature, and voters to plan responsibly for our financial future.

A consistent voice for small business, working families, kids, and the environment, Jim brings our values to the Treasurer’s office.

The Right Choice: Official Democratic Party Nominee; Endorsements: Washington Education Assn, State Labor Council, Credit Union League, NARAL, Senate Leader Lisa Brown, Speaker Frank Chopp, over 90 legislators and dozens of county treasurers, assessors, business and community leaders.

People of Influence in Washington 1995, Asian-American Pioneer Award by NW Asian Weekly 1997

Candidate Statement

I believe the responsibility of the State Treasurer is to protect the taxpayer's pocketbook, invest our dollars wisely and provide fiscal accountability to our state dollars. I am committed to these values and to continuing what I have done for over two decades: working to grow our state's economy and protecting your tax dollars.

For 23 years it has been an honor serving as Washington State's Chief Economist – weathering three recessions and delivering economic reports that have helped create over 1 million jobs in our state.

As Executive Director of Washington's Economic Revenue Forecast Council, I worked closely with both Democratic and Republican Governors to deliver sound economic reports that, in turn, grew Washington's economy. I have urged against risky proposals like implementing a state income tax. Additionally, I helped create our state's Guaranteed Education Tuition (GET) program which has allowed more than 80,000 Washington families to save thousands of dollars on tuition costs.

I am proud to have earned the bipartisan support of Governor Gary Locke, former State Treasurer Dan Grimm, Snohomish County Executive Aaron Reardon, former State Senator Dan McDonald, and many leaders in the business, labor, higher education, and health care communities.

Thank you for your vote.

Significant Career Experience: National Auditors Performance Audit Committee; received Newspaper Publishers’ Freedom’s Light Award and Municipal League’s Warren G. Magnuson Award; board member Washington Coalition for Open Government, United Way, Boys and Girls Club; YMCA volunteer, youth baseball and basketball coach.

Candidate Statement

“Brian is a real champion for Washington’s taxpayers. Trust, Independence, integrity, accountability. That’s Brian,” former Governor Booth Gardner.

As Auditor, Sonntag received the Newspaper Publisher’s “Freedom’s Light Award” for making government open and responsive. Fought to advance rights and protections of state employee whistleblowers. Used performance audits to identify $3.2 billion in cost savings and unnecessary spending. Named Tacoma Community College 2007 Distinguished Alum.

Sonntag actively engages citizens throughout Washington getting ideas to make government better. Governing magazine called this a “one-of-a-kind effort to bring citizens back into the decision-making fold.”

Brian is supported across Washington. Here’s what some newspapers have said: “Sonntag has shown the aggressiveness and integrity needed as an independent auditor for the state.” (Seattle Times) “(Sonntag) is hands down one of the most savvy, diligent and effective state auditors. . .ever.” (Yakima Herald-Republic)

Brian raised the visibility and credibility of the office and works to make sure government’s doors are open to citizens. The Seattle Times called Brian “one of the best public servants produced by this state.”

Brian is endorsed by business, labor, community leaders and others, but the most important is your vote.

Significant Career Experience: Internal Audit experience and previous manager of Boeing Commercial Airplanes Internal Audit Organization (16 auditors). I recently stepped aside as Chairman of the Constitution Party of Washington for campaign run.

Candidate Statement

With the incumbent in office since 1993, it’s time for a fresh set of eyes to examine how government fulfills its duties to serve the public. The office of Auditor especially is one where there should be no risk of long incumbency leading to “comfort zones” in the office itself or agencies examined. This is especially the case in partisan elections.

As your Auditor, I will work to make the office non-partisan. As it stands, there is always the potential for doubt or suspicion when the very government agencies or programs the Auditor is examining were put in place by the Auditor’s own party. Until that change can come about, I will bring no bias, politics, or special interests to the position, just an ability to be a truly independent Auditor.

Performance audits are very effective if they are searching and thorough. I would put failure markers in place. If an audit showed that a failure marker had been reached, then a recommendation of abolishment of an entire program would not be out of the question. I believe taxpayers deserve nothing less.

It’s time for new ideas and fresh eyes on government.

Candidate Statement

Sixteen years of the State Auditor's partisan inaction and four years of failure by the Governor are enough. Seek leadership. Find the truly trustworthy Professional to fulfill your hope for a better Washington—Elect Dick McEntee.

Two issues require urgent attention—Dick pled for these in the 2000 race. Then, the Auditor avoided, or was unable to persuade legislators to fund Performance Audits. We passed Initiative 900 in 2005. Since then, the Auditor has amassed over $30 million of tax dollars—some has been spent conducting meager Performance Audits but, with the Governor's lack of leadership and the partisan legislature and Auditor's stalling, millions in promised savings languish. It's sad. Will we ever see over $1 billion in savings that should be returned to us?

Second, budgets of schools, cities, and others audited by the State are strained; yet, Auditor fees spiral ever higher. This isn't fair!

Dick is exceptionally well qualified to serve his State as Auditor. He is a proven leader in business and government affairs. His untiring, loyal government, public and community service is remarkable. He can persuade the legislature to implement Performance Audit recommendations. Dick will work only for the interests of our State's citizens.

Significant Career Experience: [1976-1986] Managed own private practice in Tacoma [1977] Admitted to United States Supreme Court

Candidate Statement

Pierce County Executive John Ladenburg will bring hands-on experience in criminal justice, financial management, and consumer protection to an office that should be run for the people, not self promotion.

A four-term elected County Prosecutor, John helped write the state's first sex offender monitoring legislation, reduced violent drug crimes, and prosecuted polluters.

As Attorney General, John will focus on issues that impact our lives.

IDENTITY THEFT AND CONSUMER PROTECTION: Washington is the 2nd worst state in the nation for consumer fraud and 9th worst for identity theft. John will increase enforcement and improve tracking and sentencing. Why are we paying the highest gas prices in the nation? John will get answers, not make excuses.

ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION: John has a history of defending our air, water, climate and open space and will continue to do so.

SAFEGUARDING KIDS AND SENIORS: Online predators and scam artists prey on our most vulnerable. John has actual courtroom experience and will use his skills to track down and punish those who abuse kids and seniors.

Board member, Bellevue Community College Foundation. Volunteer fundraiser, Eastside Domestic Violence Program. Eagle Scout; Executive board member, Boy Scouts, Chief Seattle Council.

Candidate Statement

Attorney General Rob McKenna has proven he's a skilled, capable leader who protects Washington's families, children and consumers from 21st Century crime.

As Washington's top cop, McKenna increased state protection of children from sex predators. He clamped down on identity thieves and successfully fought the methamphetamine epidemic.

McKenna wrote the nation's first law allowing facilities where children congregate to ban convicted sex offenders. He successfully fought for: • more mandatory prison time for sex predators • stricter registration and • making child pornography possession a ranked felony.

Thanks in large measure to McKenna's Meth Task Force: • methamphetamine labs are down 90% vs. 2001 and • meth's street price has doubled. His efforts produced new narcotics task forces and more drug treatment. McKenna also focuses on prevention and has personally spoken to 30,000 students about this extremely dangerous drug.

Since McKenna took office, Washington has dropped six spots in ID theft rankings. Thanks to his legislation, consumers can now freeze their credit before they become victims of identity theft.

Rob McKenna personally argued and won two U.S. Supreme Court victories for Washington voters. Winning the Top Two primary case means the people – not political parties – choose our election system.

Candidate Statement

A lifelong Okanogan Rancher, former WSU Regent, volunteer firefighter and rural school board director, Peter Goldmark will restore balance and trust to the management of our public lands.

Sustainable Forest Management

Every year we lose valuable forest— along with jobs and public access—to sprawl development and unsustainable logging practices. Peter will protect forests and jobs by enforcing rules that protect neighbors from steep-slope logging and reforming policies that sell public forest to developers for one-time gain.

Clean Rivers and Puget Sound

Lack of leadership undermines the Puget Sound cleanup efforts. Peter will provide needed leadership to protect farms and fish and help restore the Puget Sound.

Healthy Schools and Communities

Proceeds from timber sales benefit rural school construction and communities depend on public land for jobs and recreation. A rancher and outdoorsman whose five kids attended rural schools, Peter Goldmark will defend our rural way of life.

Addressing Climate Change

Peter will manage forests and water to address climate change. This is an opportunity to create green jobs, improve state revenue, and protect our children's future.

ENDORSED: Washington Education Association, Washington State Labor Council, Washington Conservation Voters, farmers and ranchers, Senators Cantwell and Murray, and community leaders statewide.

President, Western States Lands Commissioner Association, 2004-05; Current board member, Mountains to Sound Greenway

Candidate Statement

Doug Sutherland grew up in Eastern Washington working on farms and fighting forest fires as a smokejumper, so taking care of the land comes naturally.

Doug knows how important forest jobs are to rural communities. He replaced outdated forest policies that had previously led to massive fires and habitat destruction. Coming from a union household, he stands beside workers, instituting new fitness rules for firefighter safety – and meeting them himself.

A former small business owner, Doug runs government like a business because good business and environmentally responsible stewardship go hand in hand. He created projects offering wind power to thousands of Washington homes, removing contaminants from Puget Sound and encouraging responsible forestry so family forest landowners can leave a legacy for their children. His sustainable forestry plan is the first to protect old growth, dramatically improve forest health and open thousands of miles of salmon habitat in forest streams.

A collaborative approach and diverse background earned Doug support from leaders of both parties like Governor Dan Evans and Democratic House Speaker Brian Ebersole.

Doug is proud of Washington's success, protecting forests and creating jobs. They are the priorities he learned growing up and are his priorities as Lands Commissioner.

for Superintendent of Public Instruction 2004, finished 3rd of 6 candidates, 92,000 votes, 9% of the vote statewide.

Candidate Statement

Every family should have the right, the opportunity and funds to individualize the public education for each of their own children. Therefore, I propose a Public Education System, parallel to the existing Public School System, consisting of:

Voluntary Individual Student Trust Accounts, created and funded annually using each student's existing $9000 state education voucher. With approval, each student's parents may spend these accumulating funds at the registered Public Education Program(s) of their choice. A registered Public Education Program would be any educational program, regardless of ownership, which: accepts only trust funds as tuition, i.e. "free"; fills at least 80% of its openings without admission qualification, i.e. "open enrollment"; permits no organized devotional instruction or activities; and publishes measurable educational and behavioral goals for its students, students not achieving these goals may be dismissed by the program.

Neighborhood Education Districts, staffed by three locally elected trustees, who oversee the public educational progress of 50 to 200 participating students. The trustees must approve parental Education Program choices for students passing applicable WASL tests.

Community Facility Districts which own, operate and maintain public buildings. Life cycle maintenance funds will be included in the original bond funding.

If you agree, vote for John Blair.

Education: B.S. in Fisheries, M.S. in Fisheries, and Teaching Certificate, all from the University of Washington.

Family: Married to Marge Keister Hansler since 1958. Three daughters and 6 grandchildren.

Significant Career Experience: Teacher of science and math for 13 years. Supervisor of the science program for 32 Bellevue schools for 12 years. Adjunct instructor for Seattle Pacific University since 1986. Published a 417-page college textbook on methods of teaching thinking skills. Served on numerous advisory boards in Issaquah Schools and served as district levy chairman.

Candidate Statement

I have the characteristics that are essential for a Superintendent of Public Instruction who can lead this state into becoming a place where everyone has the opportunity for a good education. I recognize the need for significant changes in our state educational system in order to make it more "user-friendly" – for students, teachers, and parents. Some of the major changes that I will advocate during my term in office are the following: 1. Bonuses for teachers who are rated to be outstanding by parents of students. 2. Full state funding of K-12 education, accompanied by a ban on special levies for operations. 3. Establishment of a two-level high school diploma system: basic and advanced. 4. Revision of the WASL program, in order to eliminate some important flaws that it has. 5. Promotion of the methods of teaching that will improve students' thinking skills. Details of these changes and others that I will pursue are presented in my 3-page official campaign statement, which can be obtained by e-mailing me your US mail address at: donhansler1@aol.com .

- President’s Award – Association of Washington School Principals
- Golden Gavel Award – Washington Association of School Administrators

Candidate Statement

Terry Bergeson has had 12 years to bring reform and change to our schools. Where are we after 12 years? Still studying how to fund basic education. Still arguing about how to implement education reform. It’s time for a change!

The Superintendent of Public Instruction needs to be an experienced educator and a political leader. Randy Dorn is both.

Randy was an elementary and middle school teacher and, for 10 years, an elementary and high school principal. Randy Dorn knows the classroom.

But Randy Dorn also knows how to get things done in Olympia. Randy served seven years in the House of Representatives and was Chairman of the Education Committee. Today, he is the Executive Director of Public School Employees of Washington, the state’s second largest educational employee organization.

Randy Dorn will be a forceful advocate for school funding, reminding the legislature it is their paramount duty to fully fund a basic education rather than relying on local levies.

And Randy Dorn will replace the WASL with a testing system that is more fair, more understandable, and takes less time, so testing doesn’t dominate curriculum and the school calendar.

It’s time for Randy Dorn. Leadership...for a change.

Viva Chavez! No, I haven’t lost my mind - just my profession (teaching) and students.* Disgusted by voter apathy, I’m trying to tap into the energy generated by Venezuela’s president. Hugo Chavez has some good ideas, too - like holding corrupt corporations accountable and nationalizing strategic industries. In fact, public education’s biggest problem is corporate corruption, the de facto privatization of our schools. Yet the media have once again turned this race into a forum on the WASL - which I’ve fought for over a decade. So why do the media ignore and even lie about me? This race has also been dominated by corrupt teachers unions, another scourge I’ve been attacking for over a decade. This isn’t a tea party, folks. We’re at war with our own government, with Corporate America, and we’re getting our butts kicked, liberals, conservatives and independents alike. Well, I’m not afraid to fight. I’m even attacking Bill Gates, right in his home town. I don’t respect software terrorists who exploit children. How can we take back America if we can’t even rescue our local schools? *www.seattle-mafia.org - Information, blogs, forums, polls, news.

I am running because I believe the original goals of education reform have been abandoned by the current superintendent. I am committed to restoring the original goals of improving student performance and supporting quality instruction for all students. Each student is unique. I will uphold the standards and demand accountability for teaching and learning but will also work to include a variety of appropriate tools and opportunities for graduating students to demonstrate their abilities to pursue their life goals. I will go to Olympia to free us from the WASL obsession of the incumbent. I will work hard for all students in our state to insure every learning opportunity is afforded to them. Addressing learning differences (learning disabilities) are a priority for me. I will always be a champion for the rights of parents to be involved in every aspect of their child's education. I believe very strongly in fiscal responsibility and have a reputation for maximizing taxpayer's value. I want teachers to get the training and tools to provide the best education possible for all students. If you feel we can do better than we are in providing education to the children of Washington, please support me.

Significant Career Experience: Dr. Bergeson is a former classroom teacher, school counselor, school district administrator and Executive Director of the Washington State Commission on Student Learning.

Candidate Statement

Dr. Teresa "Terry" Bergeson is a lifelong educator who has devoted her career to helping students achieve academic excellence. She cares deeply about our children and has worked tirelessly to ensure our public schools work for our students.

Today Washington leads the nation in accountability with some of the most rigorous academic standards in the U.S. Terry Bergeson led the effort to adopt these standards, and continues to strongly support them.

We know that high standards are working. In June, more than 91% of the Class of 2008 met new graduation requirements in reading and writing. Washington leads the nation in SAT scores. Academic achievement for students in all ethnic groups has improved significantly. More career and technical opportunities are available.

Just as important, Terry's courageous leadership has helped create schools that pay more personal attention to every single student. She believes every child can meet high expectations with the right amount of support, and she's a partner with our schools to make that happen.

Vote for Terry Bergeson to protect Washington's high standards, and help all of our children build strong foundations for their future.

Education: Bachelor of Science, Doctor of Optometry; Pacific University • Masters Degree, Public Health; UCLA

Elected Experience: Mike Kreidler was elected Insurance Commissioner in 2000. He was re-elected in 2004. He also served as a school board member, state representative, state senator, and in the U.S. Congress.

Family: Mike Kreidler and his wife Lela have been married for more than 40 years and have three children and three grandchildren.

Significant Career Experience: Mike worked as an optometrist in the private sector for 20 years. He also owned a successful small business. Commissioner Kreidler is a retired Lieutenant Colonel in the U.S. Army Reserves.

Candidate Statement

Mike Kreidler is a strong and independent voice who has stood up to powerful interests as the state's top advocate for insurance consumers.

In his first two terms, Mike Kreidler saved consumers more than $200 million in auto and homeowners' insurance by cutting excessive premium rates proposed by insurance companies.

His free consumer advocacy program helped consumers recover more than $107 million for policyholders in wrongfully delayed or denied insurance claims.

Mike Kreidler is eager to continue championing and defending the rights of insurance consumers to receive fair treatment at a fair price.

The people of our state deserve affordable health insurance and Mike Kreidler has a specific proposal to cover every Washington resident, preserve choice and reduce costs. His plan will provide peace of mind with a guaranteed level of financial security in the event of a personal health crisis.

Mike Kreidler is a proven leader who has served the people of Washington with dedication, fairness and hard work. That's why he's consistently earned endorsements from consumer, labor, business, retiree, educational, and health care organizations and individuals across our state.

Please join them by retaining Mike Kreidler as your State Insurance Commissioner.

Candidate Statement

Your Insurance Commissioner must be more than an administrator.

The Commissioner should be both an advocate for consumers and a regulator/protector of the insurance industry and possess a good working knowledge of the applicable laws.

Let's face it; one of the reasons for higher insurance costs and fewer options is a lack of consumer choice and resistance to change when change is needed.

Extreme judgments contribute to the rising insurance costs that have driven insurance companies from our state and doctors from their practices. Average families and many businesses cannot afford medical coverage/benefits.

We have all heard "If it isn't broke – don't fix it." It's time to wake up! The system is broke – it does need fixing – we need a level playing field.

Let's work for common sense and creative solutions. John is a Viet Nam veteran with very broad life experience and sense of fairness.

Help John Adams bring 38 years of professional experience in the insurance business to the Commissioner's office. Give him a chance to begin to fix a broken system.

Vote John Adams for Insurance Commissioner!!

I serve on the Washington Department of Labor & Industries COHE committee. My volunteer experience includes being a foster parent, Boy Scout Master, and Boys and Girls Club Board Member. I spent eight years as a navigator in the Air Force.

Candidate Statement

The people of Washington deserve better than we've gotten from the incumbent Insurance Commissioner. We need a regulator who will hold the insurance industry accountable, without party politics and elites of Olympia calling the shots.

That's why I am running as a non-partisan for the office that oversees an industry that takes more money out of your pocket than any other. When you add it all up, insurance premiums amount to over $15,000 for every Washingtonian.

Unlike my opponent, I have professional credentials (MBA in Finance and past insurance and securities licenses) plus the occupational experience (ran a payroll and employee benefits business) to do the job. My record on the issues of health insurer surpluses and rates, credit scoring in underwriting, and unreasonable fees to consultants is clear.

Re-elect my opponent and you will continue to be ripped-off.

Elect me and $1.4 billion in excess premiums will be refunded to health insurance customers. Credit scoring will be stopped. Fackler believes if you are overcharged by your health insurer you should get the money back not the state, as a new law now requires.

Family: Widowed with two children, ages 10 and 20

Significant Career Experience: Economic Development Specialist, Satsop Development Park (2007); Legislative & Community Liaison, Lieutenant Governor Brad Owen (2004-2006); 19th District State Representative (1994-2004); House Majority Floor Leader (2001-2004); Legislative Assistant to State Senators Arlie DeJarnatt and Sid Snyder (1989-1994)

Candidate Statement

Let's keep Brian Hatfield's energy, experience and effectiveness working for us!

Prior to joining the Senate in 2006, Hatfield served the 19th District in the House of Representatives for ten years, and was twice elected Majority Floor Leader by his caucus peers. Senator Hatfield now serves as Vice Chair of BOTH the Agriculture and Rural Economic Development Committee and the Natural Resources, Ocean and Recreation Committee. He also has seats on the Water, Energy and Technology Committee as well as the powerful, Ways and Means Committee.

Additionally, Hatfield chairs the Legislature's Coastal Caucus and serves on our state's Community Economic Revitalization Board.

As a moderate, Hatfield respects and listens to all viewpoints and has worked well with both parties in Olympia. This common sense approach has provided real results for all of us here at home.

It's no wonder he received 73.89% of the vote last year, and has been endorsed, THIS YEAR, by organizations like the Washington State Farm Bureau, the Washington Education Association, the Hunters Heritage Council and scores of groups representing the working women and men of our community in organized labor.

Senator Brian Hatfield is a leader who listens, and a senator we can count on.

Significant Career Experience: Jim coached youth baseball for many years and is currently a member of the Grays Harbor Economic Development Council and with his family actively involved in the local Christian community.

Candidate Statement

Jim Hargrove has served the citizens of the Olympic Peninsula in the legislature for 24 years. He has a proven record of solving problems. As Chair of the Human Services and Corrections Committee, he has focused his legislative career on helping children and families and preventing crime. His work on bills to help juveniles, the mentally ill and reform corrections has not only benefited citizens but actually lowered the crime rate in the State of Washington saving the taxpayers millions of dollars. His hard work has resulted in over 100 prime sponsored bills being enacted over his career. His effective work has also resulted in the passage of major economic development legislation. His common sense approach to our criminal laws has garnered him the endorsement of LAW, an organization representing Sheriffs and Police Chiefs statewide. Also being a self employed professional forester has helped him be a leading voice for rural communities. In the last term alone he has received awards from the Washington Conservation Voters, the State Homeless Coalition, the Children's Alliance, WSCADV, WA State Medical Association, and the WA Arms Collectors. Experience and hard work do make a difference. Keep him working for you in Olympia, Vote Jim Hargrove.

Significant Career Experience: I am a Vietnam combat veteran, small business owner, and a long time resident of Washington. I was an aerospace machinist/mechanic for Boeing and Lockheed and a member of the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers.

Candidate Statement

I believe Olympia is out of touch with the people of Washington. The runaway train of government spending, regulation and taxation is hurting counties, cities, businesses and individuals. To stop that runaway train, I believe that our legislature needs to STOP raising our taxes and passing restrictive legislation. They need to LOOK at effective, measurable solutions to problems. They need to LISTEN to what you, the people want! Common-sense leadership is what we need in Olympia. I believe I can provide that leadership and would be the right choice to represent the people of the 35th District.

Biographical Information

Current Occupation/Employer: I am a 2-term City Councilman for Bremerton.

Education: In addition to college education, I am trained in emergency management and am a Certified Municipal Leader.

Elected Experience: As a City Councilman, I have been Council Vice-President and chair of Public Works and Public Safety & Parks committees.

Family: I have a wife, Patsy, two sons, Paul and Kyle and two dogs, Maggie and Brandy.

Education: • BA, Johns Hopkins • JD, Fordham University.

Elected Experience: • Nine years, local school board • Vice Chair, 35th Democrats • Mason General Hospital Foundation Board • President, Thurston Big Brothers/Big Sisters.

Family: Wife, Bonnie. Three children, one grandchild.

Significant Career Experience: • Helped write federal legislation granting telecommunications access for rural citizens (including 35th LD residents) • Attorney for FCC • Helped start local radio station 96.1 • Former owner-operator, Lynch Paint Company, Olympia • Honorable service, US Army.

Candidate Statement

Fred Finn is running for State Representative to put his experience in business, education, our community, and military to work for us in Olympia. His nine years on the School Board give him a unique understanding of our educational needs. As a businessperson, Fred understands what’s needed to create jobs. His volunteer work on health care, habitat restoration, and families shows the type of commitment we expect from our elected officials. Finn is endorsed by firefighter and law enforcement organizations, elected officials, and was overwhelmingly nominated to represent the Democratic Party. Fred Finn has the experience to make a difference.

Current Occupation/Employer: Lead Organizer, Washington Federation of State Employees Union

Education: B.A. in Organizational Management

Elected Experience: While not yet elected to office, I am the only candidate for this position who has had direct experience drafting and getting legislation passed—legislation that has been sponsored by both Republicans and Democrats.

Family: My wife, Leslie, and I have three children and have had more than fifty-four foster children since 1993.

Significant Career Experience: Ten years working for large corporations in the business world; ran my own business; statewide director of Families for Kids; experience as both an employer and an employee.

Candidate Statement

A lifelong resident of our region, my years of public service—being a foster parent, to serving as an Obama delegate; volunteering here in the district, to my four trips to New Orleans to help Katrina victims—are about families.

My focus as your representative will be to control growth and protect our lands; support local businesses and bringing living wage and green jobs home; and accomplish real health care improvements.

Endorsed by the Washington State Labor Council, community leaders, and hundreds of District residents and business owners.

My priorities are your families, not developers’ special interests.

Being a man who enjoys working, Randy has earned life experience and understands what it means to sign on both sides of a paycheck. His job experiences include logging, construction, corporate management and personal bodyguard. Randy is one of the few who understands labor unions from both sides. With such a wide variety of experiences, he has truly earned his tagline, "I M 1 of U."

Candidate Statement

We are not under taxed, government spends too much. Washington is facing a $2.4 billion dollar deficit. Education, the environment and healthcare are all broken, in spite of obscene expenditures of taxpayers' money. Olympia's solution: Raise taxes and throw more money at the problems.

We're broke. People are losing their homes. Businesses are closing their doors. And we can't even afford to fill our own gas tanks. We have nothing left to give.

Please elect me, Randy "IM1ofU" Neatherlin. I will look my fellow legislators in the eye and say, "Stop! Enough! Not another dime!"

What judicial candidates can say

Two types of information are shown for each judicial candidate listed in this pamphlet:

1. A brief biography, supplied by the candidate, which includes the candidate's background and professional experience.
2. A brief, unedited statement, written by the candidate, about why you should vote for that individual.

Candidates' statements are governed by Canon 7 of Washington's Code of Judicial Conduct. The Code bars judicial candidates from making statements that appear to commit them on legal issues likely to come before them in court. The Canon also specifies that a candidate may not make misleading or untruthful statements.

How we select judges in Washington State

Nonpartisan Election: Originally, judges in Washington State were elected in partisan elections. This was changed in 1912 and since that time judges have been selected by nonpartisan election.

Appointment: When a justice of the Washington State Supreme Court or a judge of the state Court of Appeals or a superior court resigns or dies during a term of office, the Governor appoints a new judge to fill that position. The appointed judge must run in the next election.

All judges who complete their terms and wish to serve another must stand for a nonpartisan election.

The importance of primary elections

Candidates for the Supreme Court, Court of Appeals, and Superior Courts who are unopposed or who receive more than half of the votes in a primary election are thereby elected to the position. But if there are three or more candidates, and no one wins more than half the votes cast, the two with the most votes must face each other in the November general election.

Supreme Court (The successful candidate may be determined in the primary): The state's "court of last resort," the Supreme Court hears appeals from the Court of Appeals and other lower courts. Through its rule-making authority, it also administers the state court system.

Three of the court's nine justices come up for election every two years. Justices serve six-year staggered terms.

Court of Appeals (The successful candidate may be determined in the primary): The Court of Appeals hears most of the appeals that come up from the county-level superior courts. A total of 22 judges serve the court in three, multi-county divisions headquartered in Seattle, Tacoma and Spokane. Candidates run in one of three county groupings, or districts, within each division. Only voters registered within their districts can vote for them. Judges serve staggered, six-year terms.

Superior Court (The successful candidate may be determined in the primary): Superior courts are the state's courts of general jurisdiction. They hear felony criminal cases, civil matters, dissolutions (divorces), juvenile cases, and appeals from courts of limited jurisdiction. They are organized by county into 32 judicial districts. Candidates run in the county or counties within their district, and only voters within that district can cast ballots for them. Judges serve four-year terms.

Candidate Statement

Since you elected me to our Supreme Court six years ago, I have worked to improve our justice system, to make our courts efficient and responsive, to ensure access to justice for all, and to protect the rights of every person in Washington State.

I was raised in a loving family which placed great value on fairness, service and the dignity of every man, woman and child.

Every day I go to work aware that my decisions affect thousands of lives. Since joining the court I have decided over 600 cases. To every case I have brought an open mind, fairness, common sense and a commitment to uphold our Constitution.

We are a diverse people united by a common law and Constitution. As a Justice, I am obligated not to any group, but to respect the rule of law and uphold our Constitution. I am dedicated to ensuring that we have a legal system that treats people fairly, equally and protects the rights of everyone.

Significant Career Experience: Cases throughout Washington in 23 of our county courts, 3 federal courts, 9th Circuit Court of Appeals, 2 bankruptcy courts, administrative agencies, all three divisions of our Courts of Appeal and the Supreme Court.

Candidate Statement

The courts are where our citizens go to seek justice. I have spent over 28 years in court helping people with real problems from all walks of life who seek justice. Since 1997 I've helped run my own small business, and we provide our employees a good place to work with excellent benefits.

Over the years, I've learned that the most important role of the courts is to protect the people from the power of government and the vested interests. To fulfill that responsibility, a judge should have a broad range of experience in and outside the law, clearly understand the difference between serving as judge and serving as legislator, and possess the courage to speak truth to power.

Our State Constitution established a government of limited power, but in too many opinions the incumbent voted to increase government power by approving government secrecy over public records; and she voted in ways that trample on our constitutional rights, overruling property rights, reducing privacy rights, and censoring free speech. Learn more about my views at www.bondforjustice.com.

We elect our judges and they remain accountable to the people. Preserve our liberty, vote Michael J. Bond for Justice.

Candidate Statement

Justice Charles Johnson has proven he understands and protects our rights and freedoms. For 18 years, his record shows his commitment to protecting privacy rights and holding government accountable, coupled with his courage and ability to decide the difficult issues the Court faces.

Evaluated by lawyers groups, Justice Johnson rates "exceptionally well qualified." His fairness, intellect, common sense and impartiality are reflected by groups supporting his re-election, including: Washington State Labor Council, Association of Washington Business, Joint Council of Firefighters, American Federation of Teachers, Washington Conservation Voters, Washington State Young Democrats, Mainstream Republicans of Washington, Joint Council of Teamsters, and Rental Housing Association of Puget Sound.

The American Bar Association Council on Racial and Ethnic Fairness has recognized Justice Johnson's efforts to improve justice for all persons.

We need Supreme Court Justices like Justice Charles Johnson, with proven experience, intelligence, integrity, fairness and impartiality. Hard work and difficult challenges underscore his entire life. He worked as a laborer to pay for his education and understands the value of our time and money.

Candidate Statement

I want to improve the quality and output of decisions coming from the Supreme Court and increase efficiency in our judicial system. The first goal can be accomplished through intellectual honesty ensuring all decisions accurately describe the facts of the case and the issues of the parties present. A decision that does not meet these standards is not the case the parties brought, but one of the Court's creation. When this occurs (and it has) justice is not been done. Unfortunately, only the parties and their lawyers usually realize this. I will work to implement a meaningful evaluation system of appellate judges so citizens can cast their votes intelligently and with understanding.

I will urge the Court to take up and decide more cases, particularly involving differences between Court of Appeals divisions. Leaving such issues undecided leaves uncertainty as to the law and creates unnecessary and/or more costly litigation. The number of cases decided by the Supreme Court today is far lower than in the past when there were only seven Justices with less staff and without the advantages of computer research and word processing.

Family: Married to Linda Beecher, 2 children, 1 grandchild.

Significant Career Experience: Before entering private practice served as a Prosecutor in the Seattle City Attorney's Office and a Senior Trial Lawyer in the Office of Attorney General.

Candidate Statement

From isolated chambers in Olympia, Supreme Court Justices affirm or reverse decisions of other judges and dictate the operating rules for Washington's Courts.

Our court rules need to be modernized. Many pretrial procedures are shamefully expensive and should be limited. Washington is a world leader in electronic technology but current rules do not allow the full benefit of that technology. After 18 years it is time to replace the incumbent with an attorney who has a broader and more current knowledge of actual litigation practices.

My experience has uniquely prepared me to understand the needs and concerns of litigants throughout Washington. I have handled many hundreds of cases across our state representing governments, businesses and individuals in cases as diverse as consumer protection, construction, civil rights, insurance and the environment.

I have set verdict records in several counties and have consistently received Martindale's highest rating for legal ability and integrity. The American Board of Trial Advocates elected me to membership. I am included in the publication, The Best Lawyers In America, and Washington Law and Politics lists me as a Super Lawyer. Metropolitan Seattle Magazine identifies me as one of the Best Lawyers in Seattle.

Candidate Statement

The first woman from Eastern Washington to serve on the State Supreme Court, Justice Debra Stephens brings unique experience as an attorney, constitutional law scholar, and Appeals Court judge to the bench. Rated “Exceptionally Well Qualified” by five separate Bar Associations, she is committed to protecting the rights and liberties of all Washingtonians.

Justice Stephens raised her family in Spokane while maintaining a law practice specializing in serving victims of crimes and their families.

On the Supreme Court, Justice Stephens is committed to upholding and respecting our laws and constitution free from bias, with a firm commitment to our shared values. Justice Stephens believes firmly that the law should be grounded in common sense, and address the needs of real people.

Active in her church and community, former chair of her local school board and a volunteer mentor to young women, Justice Debra Stephens brings real-world perspective and outstanding legal qualifications to the Supreme Court.

Family: Married to Art Schmidt, retired Navy Chief; two sons.

Significant Career Experience: Hunt has argued 50 appeals before the state Supreme Court, Court of Appeals, and the Ninth Circuit; successfully prosecuted felonies, including murder; and led Legal Ethics and Public Disclosure seminars.

Candidate Statement

Experience: Hunt has been twice elected to the Appellate Court. Widely respected for her courage, knowledge, and dedication to the law, Hunt is endorsed by former governors, eleven past and present state Supreme Court justices, numerous appellate and lower court judges, prosecutors, defense attorneys, sheriffs, mayors, and other county and state officials. The Washington Association of Prosecuting Attorneys gives Hunt their highest rating: “Exceptionally Well-Qualified.”

Common Sense: Chief Justice Gerry Alexander praises Hunt’s “fair-minded and common-sense approach to the law.” A tireless worker, Hunt brings experience, sensitivity, and years of community involvement (mom, musician, school board, mentor of young lawyers from diverse backgrounds) to her job as judge.

Independence: With bipartisan support, free of special interests, Hunt honors our state and federal Constitutions and does not legislate from the bench. Committed to education, Hunt takes her court “on the road” so the public, especially students and seniors, can witness the judiciary in action. Former Governor John Spellman says Hunt “exhibits the temperament and impartiality that Washingtonians have a right to expect from their Judiciary.” Former Governor Gary Locke calls Hunt “a champion of open government and an outstanding public servant with a heart for justice.”

Biographical Information

Current Occupation/Employer: As a Washington State Assistant Attorney General, Tim Ford has authored formal legal opinions, defended initiatives and referendums, and trained hundreds of citizens to hold government accountable. Tim’s diverse legal career includes successfully defending parents in child custody battles, fighting costly government regulations, and assisting with appellate cases before the state and federal supreme courts.

Family: Tim is devoted to his wife, Sonya and their 3 year-old daughter Megan.

Significant Career Experience: As a U.S. Navy Lieutenant, Tim flew helicopters in support missions without loss of any lives, and was honorably discharged in 1994.

Candidate Statement

Tim Ford will protect the rights of the people of Washington. He has the personal experience and integrity we expect from judges. Tim’s appellate experience and knowledge of the Washington Constitution will protect our civil liberties, while holding individuals and government accountable. Tim has a well deserved reputation as a hard working leader, and champion of open government as Assistant Attorney General. Throughout his legal career he has contributed free legal work to the disadvantaged. Tim will use his leadership, experience, and keen mind to improve the court and protect the rights of the people.

Judicial Philosophy: Our constitution requires judges to protect individual rights, enforce laws, and hold individuals and government accountable regardless of who stands before them. The judiciary’s proper role is as a check and balance on the other branches of government. Tim will not legislate from the bench.

Broad-Based Support: Tim Ford is a featured speaker at non-partisan statewide forums for open government. Tim’s experience has gained him support across a broad spectrum including independent, democratic, and republican leaders; judges, prosecutors, and many others. Tim is supported by the Farm Bureau and has worked closely with citizens, conservationists, and businesses on matters of important public policy.

Political Party Precinct Committee Officers

► You may be eligible to vote for a political party Precinct Committee Officer.

What is a Precinct Committee Officer?

Precinct Committee Officer is a position within each major political party. Washington State has two major political parties: the Democratic Party and the Republican Party. One Democratic Precinct Committee Officer and one Republican Precinct Committee Officer are elected from each precinct.

The role of the Precinct Committee Officer is to represent the precinct in political party activities, and to represent the political party in the precinct.

[Know your election terms.]

“Precinct” means a geographical subdivision for voting purposes that is established by a county legislative authority. (RCW 29A.04.121)

Is each candidate a member of a political party?

Unlike a candidate for public office, a candidate for Precinct Committee Officer must be a member of a political party. Precinct Committee Officers participate in party activities and represent the party.

Who is eligible to vote for Precinct Committee Officers?

Because Precinct Committee Officer is a party position, not a public office, you must consider yourself a Democrat or Republican in order to vote for a Democratic or Republican candidate for Precinct Committee Officer. You may only vote for one candidate.

You do not have to formally join the Democratic or Republican Party, you do not have to sign a party oath, and voting in this election will not put your name on any party lists. If you consider yourself a Democrat or Republican, you can vote for a Precinct Committee Officer candidate of that party.

How does a candidate for Precinct Committee Officer win?

The election for Precinct Committee Officer occurs during the August Primary. The position does not appear on the ballot for the November General Election.

Democratic candidates run against Democratic candidates, and Republican candidates run against Republican candidates. The candidate who receives the most votes wins. If there is no Democratic or Republican candidate on your ballot, then no candidate filed.

Need more information?

For more information about the role of Political Party Precinct Committee Officers, contact the Democratic or Republican Party.

How is the United States President elected?

Presidential and Vice Presidential candidates will NOT appear on the ballot until the November General Election.

If you're wondering why, take a look at the presidential elective process below.

February

Presidential Primaries and Caucuses

The major parties (Democrats and Republicans) hold a Presidential Primary or caucuses in every state, giving voters the opportunity to elect delegates to represent the candidate of their choice at their party's regional, statewide, and national conventions.

Washington State's Presidential Primary was February 19, 2008 and party caucuses were February 9, 2008.

August/September

National Party Conventions

At the national party conventions, delegates elected by their states' party members vote for the candidate they represent. The candidate with the most delegate votes is announced as the party's official presidential nominee. The nominee then announces his or her vice presidential running mate.

The Democratic National Convention will be held August 25-29 in Denver, Colorado. The Republican National Convention will be held September 1-4 in Minneapolis, Minnesota.

November

General Election

The presidential nominees of both major parties, minor parties, and independent candidates will appear on the ballot in the November General Election.

The nationwide General Election will be held November 4, 2008.

January, 2009

Presidential Inauguration

The winner of the General Election, the President-elect, doesn't officially take office until he or she is sworn in on Inauguration Day.

Inauguration Day will occur on January 20, 2009 in front of the United States Capitol in Washington, D.C.

“ I do solemnly swear that I will support and defend the Constitution of the United States against all enemies, foreign and domestic, that I will bear true faith and allegiance to the same: that I take this obligation freely, without any mental reservation or purpose of evasion, and I will well and faithfully discharge the duties of the office on which I am about to enter. So help me God. ”

Update your voting information!

If you've moved since you last voted, you must update your voter registration information in order to receive your ballot in the upcoming election.

For your convenience, you may update your information online, by telephone, or by mail.

Online

You may update your voting address online! Go to www.vote.wa.gov. If you moved within the same county, click on "MyVote" and follow the instructions on the screen.

If you have moved to a different county, you must fill out a new voter registration. You may use Online Voter Registration, or a mail-in form.

Telephone

You may also call your county elections department to update your mailing address if you moved within the same county. County contact information can be found in the back of this pamphlet or in the government section of your local phone book.

Mail

If you moved to a different county, you must complete a voter registration form and mail it in, or register online. Forms are available on the Internet at www.vote.wa.gov or at your county elections department, public libraries, schools, and other government offices.

Tell your friends.

VOTE.

Many of Washington's counties now conduct all elections by mail. If you are a registered voter in a county that votes by mail, you will automatically be sent a ballot. King and Pierce counties continue to use poll sites in addition to mail to conduct elections.

VOTERS' PAMPHLET

August 19, 2008 Primary

Washington's New Top 2 Primary

Washington has a new primary. You do not have to pick a party. In each race, you may vote for any one of the candidates listed. The two candidates who receive the most votes in the August Primary will advance to the November General Election.

Each candidate for partisan office may state a political party that he or she prefers. A candidate's preference does not imply that the candidate is nominated or endorsed by the party, or that the party approves of or associates with that candidate. Look inside for more about the Top 2 Primary.
